TORONTO TIDINGS

Mr. James Grimes, of Montreal, has returned home after a week here, spent most pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. McGillivray and other friends, with whom he is very popular. He also spent a week in Albany, N. Y., before returning to work as a messenger for the Canadian National Railways. While in Albany, he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brown. He is a graduate of the Mackay School of Montreal, and a jovial young bachelor.

Glad to meet our old friend, Mr. John Dunn, of Ottawa, who came up and spent from October 9th to 18th with us.

Mr. William Baillie, of St. John's, N. B., after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Roman, left for Hamilton on October 4th, and secured a good position as plasterer. He came down to see us again for the week-end of October 9th. The way he smiles are a guarantee of his satisfaction.

We were favored with a brief call from the Misses Laura and Catherine Tudhope, of Orillia, on October 10th. In company with their brother, they motored down in the morning and returned in the evening, taking home their mother, who had been visiting here for a few days previously.

We had the impression that our young friend, Mr. Harold Peacock, had again left for the Belleville School, but such is not the case, for he has been working on a farm near Cooksville, some nine miles west of here, and likes the job. He comes in almost every week-end to see his folks.

Miss Francis Kenney, of Acton, was renewing old acquaintances here over the week-end of October 9th. Glad to meet her again.

On their return home to Clinton, on October 6th, after a short visit here, Mr. and Mrs. David Sours were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Francis E. Doyle, who visited relatives and old friends in Kitchener, Stratford and Clinton, returning home on October 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Radbone have left the vortex of this city, and moved to a beautiful home in Birch Cliff, near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Bell.

Mrs. Walter Bell entertained a few of her relatives to a birthday celebration of her only son, Master Jennison Bell, on October 10th.

Soon after his return from Windsor, Mr. Alex. Buchan Sr., was lucky in securing a good situation as an operator in a tailoring establishment.

Mr. Bert Riddell, now cuts through the streets in a brand new "Nash" car. It's some class.

Many of those who were at school in her days will remember the late Miss Ida Justus, of Bobcaygeon, who later married Mr. Hamilton McBride, of Westmeath. Well, her two young yet most refined daughters, the Misses Mary and Iva McBride, are now here in our midst. The former is attending Jarvis St. Collegiate, in preparation for a teacher's certificate, the latter is in training at the Weston Hospital, to be a professional nurse. Both look alike and have the same pleasing disposition as had their beloved mother. Though not deaf, they can master the sign language with perfect ease, and Mary would like to become an interpreter for us. She certainly has the qualifications to be such.

The monthly meeting of the financial board of our church was held on October 11th, to thrash out some financial matters.

Messrs. Roy Tretheway, of Port Burwell, and George Goulding, of this city, have returned from a motor trip around Lake Erie, and on the way made stop-overs at Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Akron, Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Mr. Tretheway remained here for a week before leaving for his home in Port Burwell, where he has a photograph business stand.

There was a very good turnout at our quarterly communion service at our church on October 10th. The Rev. Mr. Real officiated at this service, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Byrne as interpreter. He spoke on the beauties that will be revealed unto us when we all foregather at the Everlasting Feast. The best arranged service of this kind was carried out and caused no little comment of great satisfaction. Here's hoping that the same organized plans will govern all such future occasions. Mrs. W. R. Watt tactfully rendered a beautiful solo.

Mr. John T. Shilton, in handing in his renewal for the JOURNAL expressed his great appreciation of this newsy paper, that gives the best news of the deaf in the world.

All the deaf here are glad that the St. Louis Cardinals won the World's Baseball Classic honors. They had always been pulling for the "Mound City" aggregation.

Mrs. Howard Breen, of Hamilton, was calling on old friends here over the week-end of October 10th.

There was a meeting of leading members of the Bridgen Club, held on October 12th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hazlett, when the coming winter gatherings of this society were discussed and approved. A full and detailed account of its plans will be given later.

Our Ladies' Aid Society held their first meeting after the summer holidays on October 7th, to arrange matters for the coming winter in connection with our church. Mr. John B. Stewart presented a bill for over $100, for papering three rooms of the parish house. It was decided to hold future meetings of this society in the afternoons instead of in the evenings.

When Mrs. Harry E. Grooms was out on her recent holidays, she had her hair bobbed, and on her return was warmly congratulated on her youthful appearance.

There was a very large and enthusiastic gathering of the deaf in the lecture room of our church on the evening of October 9th. Mr. John T. Shilton was the chairman, and gave reasons why the meeting was called. Between the various discussions, ten-minute movie slides were thrown on the canvas to enliven the evening's fun. It was, judging by the majority of the speakers, to open the Bridgen Club, which is the pioneer club among us, and has been in existence for almost forty years. Every one seemed to be in favor of it, but there were diverse opinions as to which evening it should meet regularly.

Some favored Fridays and others Saturdays, and this is why it is still deadlocked. However, a way out of this perplexing tangle will likely be solved soon, for a committee of "wise heads" will get together and iron out the way to success and harmony. It should be borne in mind that no matter what may occur, all must come under the influence of our church, as clearly defined by Supt. J. R. Byrne. More particulars later.

Mr. H. W. Roberts and two of his cousins motored out to King City, on October 9th, to gather in the apples from Herb's orchard on his property there, but did not get as many as they expected, only three bags full in all.

A very completely arranged and enjoyable surprise party was gotten up and staged at the comfortable home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. McGillivray, on October 11th, in honor of the tenth wedding anniversary of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Paterson, of Montreal. These two were completely taken unawares and for the time being had their nerves in a racket.

A very sociable time followed with games and refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Paterson are very popular here and we were sorry to see them depart for home on October 14th. Before leaving, Mr. Paterson handed over his subscription to the JOURNAL, with the remark: "I've been waiting to take it for so long."

Miss Iona Osborne has returned to her home in Sutton West, after a week spent with relatives and friends here.

"Mora Glen" was the scene of a happy gathering on October 8th, when Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson and Mr. James Grimes, of Montreal, were pleasantly entertained that evening.

Mr. W. R. Watt has again resumed his duties at the old stand, after taking a brief holiday, due to his firm's annual stock taking. He spent the time quietly at home.

Mrs. John Mills returned home on October 13th, from a ten days' holiday trip to Philadelphia and other points, where she had a very good time.

OWEN SOUND OPTIONS.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Carson have moved from Meaford to this city, where Mr. Carson has secured a good position with the chair factory here. He had been out of a regular job for a long time previous to coming here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hopkins are the proud parents of their first child, a boy, which was born a few weeks ago. Mrs. Hopkins was formerly Miss Spray Komph, of Stratford.

There are about a dozen deaf people living in or near this city, and all are doing well.

A few years ago, this city was a branch of the Toronto Mission to the Deaf, but fell out on account of some moving to other parts. Now we think it would come to life again should Toronto send up a speaker occasionally.

Mr. Robert McMaster, of Wiar-ton, was in this city, not long ago.

KITCHENER KINDLINGS.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Nahrgang, of Speedville, motored up on September 26th, and picking up Mrs. Charles Golds, continued on to Elmira, where they Sundayed with Mr. and Mrs. John Forsythe.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Williams were pleasantly surprised with a call from Mr. and Mrs. John Mills, of Toronto, on October 2d, and they remained over night. On the morning, the four were motored out to Guelph by Mr. Frank Walker, where they spent a pleasant time with the parents of Miss Mary McQueen, who treated them very generously. Mr. Mills returned to Toronto that evening, but Mrs. Mills stayed here with the Williams, with whom she remained till October 6th, when she hastened home on receipt of a wire that her husband was very ill. It was her intention to stay here for a week.

Mr. James P. Orr, of Milverton, and Miss Luella Strong, of Bloom- indale, motored to this city on October 3d. Taking a casual glance at their movements of late, it seems as if Daniel Cupid is lurking around. On October 4th, Mr. Thomas S. Williams took Mrs. John Mills over to Waterloo for a call on Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Martin, but found Mr. Martin was absent, working on the night shift.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sours, of Clinton, and their daughter, Mrs. Frank Doyle, of Toronto, were renewing old acquaintances here recently.

PALGRAVE PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones and daughter returned home on October 3d, from a three days' pleasant motor trip through the Hamilton district. They first struck for the Milton fair, but saw none of the deaf there, though there was a great crowd and good sports. Next they went and called on relatives in Killbide, Carlisle, Mill-grove and Hamilton. On returning, they came back by way of Toronto, but were too late to be at the Sunday meeting in that city on October 3d. However, they expect to go to Toronto later on.

On October 10th, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Corbier, Mr. Herbert McKenzie and Miss Edna, all of Aurora, came as far as Schomberg, where Mr. Samuel Jones met them and brought them to his home the same way, after calling on the John Zimmerman family.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones and daughter, Isabel, called to see Thomas Hazelton and family, in Schomberg, on the evening of October 10th, and found them doing very well.

HORNING MILLS HUMOR

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton, of this place, the latter's sister, Miss Mary Francis, of Huntsville, Oscar Noakes and grandma Middleton, attended the Shelburne Fair, on September 22d, and report it a great success.

The aged mother of Mr. Thomas Middleton, who had been visiting away up in Manitoba all summer, returned to her home here on September 16th. Despite the burden of four score years, she travelled all alone.

Mr. John Taylor, of Singhamton, has been staying here lately, helping Mr. Middleton with his threshing and potato picking.

While Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, of Detroit, were visiting at the former's parental home in Riverview lately, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Middleton went over to meet them on the strength of a telephone invitation and spent a very enjoyable time with them on September 28th.

Since Miss Helen A. Middleton left early last August for a lengthy holiday, her absence has been much felt here, and the query so often asked is, "When will she be coming home?"

Mr. John Noakes, of Toronto, was up at the Middletons recently, visiting his brother, Oscar. The latter has been asked to remain here all winter.

On October 3d, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton, accompanied by Miss Mary Francis, Mr. John Taylor and Mr. Oscar Noakes, motored out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Averall, in Cookstown, to attend the meeting there that Mr. Colin McLean, of Toronto, was to have conducted, but Colin did not turn up. Rather than let the day pass minus something being done, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dickson and Mrs. Samuel Averall entertained the gathering with short stories of the Living Word. Those present, besides Mr. and Mrs. Averall and Roy Bowen, of Cookstown, were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Dickson, of Fraserburg, Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox and Ernest A. Lawson, of Phelpsston, Miss B. Lawrence, of Newtown Robinson, Miss Margaret Rea, of Barrie, Mrs. William Phillips, of Lisle, and those from here. Miss Francis remained over night at the Averall home, then left next day for her home in Huntsville.

FLINT FLAREUPS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott have just moved into their new home on Harriett Street E., which is more commodious.

Miss Helen A. Middleton, of Horning Mills, Ont., is at present a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott.

There are quite a number of former Canadians now working in this city, including John Maynard, Lorne Coleclough, and John Marshall from Toronto, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Scott and Miss H. A. Middleton went for a motor trip to Goodrich, Mich., one week-end recently, and enjoyed the trip very much.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Our old friend, Mr. Clifford Currie, who left the Belleville School many years ago, and who managed to go over seas during the great war, is holding his own out at Victoria, B. C., despite his shell-shocked condition.

When will his wanderings cease? After locating at Brockville, Athens, Arnprior, Gananoque, Niagara Falls, Merrittton, Thorold, Toronto and Aurora, Mr. Thomas Hazelton and his family are now domiciled in Schomberg, where he has opened a shoe shop to give "lasting" pleasure to the people's "soles."

As he laboriously worked on planting almost two acres of potatoes last Spring, Mr. Thomas F. Bissell, of Sarnia had great visions of a bountiful store for the coming winter, but when he had dug them all up again lately, his dreams went down with a thud, as he found that the greater part of them were fit for nothing better than the pig trough. The continuous fall rains had wrought such havoc.

One of the latest to send in her subscription for the JOURNAL is Miss Bessie Franklin, of Rosetown, Sask., who has found this weekly paper a very interesting visitor.

The meeting which Mr. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, was to have taken charge of at London, on October 24th, was postponed till October 31st, in order that those coming for the Halloween party, on October 30th, could stay over and attend it.

Mr. Hamilton McBride, of Westmeath, was recently visiting in Pembroke and Carleton Place.

Miss Barbara Aldcorn, of Corbettown was lately out in Dundalk, visiting friends.

Rochester, N. Y.

At the closing of the University of Rochester last June, Miss Jessie Ramsey, a product of the Rochester School for the Deaf, received a diploma after several years of study there. At present she is very undecided about her future, but whatever she has decided to do, her numerous friends wish her luck and happiness.

Miss Doris Myers, having resigned from the faculty at the Rochester School, is enjoying her splendid position with some firm at her home town, Niagara Falls. She said it was the first time in fifteen years to stay with her parents a whole year.

Miss Georgina Smith has been promoted to be supervisor of the older girls at the Rochester School. She likes her position very much. She is the Head Supervisor there this year.

During the summer there have been many picnics or outings the deaf have attended, among them at Oswasco Lake, Albion, Lockport and Buffalo. The last picnic of the season was held at the Shattucks' home, at Cohocton, last September.

On the Fourth of July, a number of Rochester deaf attended the reunion of the Catholic deaf at the St. Joseph's School for the Deaf, in Buffalo, and they reported having a very pleasant time. Many had never been to Niagara Falls, so took the chance to go there, and they declared they never saw such a wonderful sight at night, when the falls were flooded with colored lights.

Last August, Messrs. A. Slater and J. Hagermann, of this city, left with the latter's father in his car for two weeks' trip west. They made Detroit, Chicago, Akron and Cleveland their places of visit, and they said they attended one of the largest picnics the Akron Silents ever had, and they found the deaf there wonderful to make friends with. The trip west was A. Slater's first one out of Buffalo.

Those leaving for the N. A. D., which was held at Washington, D. C., were Mr. and Mrs. Haenzel, of Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. Whyland, of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, of Elmira, Mr. I. Todd, Messrs. C. Samuelson, Klock, Lansing, Swan, Stahl, of Utica, and Barnett, and Misses Schwagler, Haller, Hermance, Shattuck and Atwater. After the convention was over, the girls, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Haenzel, spent another week visiting in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and New York City. While in Philadelphia, nearly all the Rochesterians attended the P. S. A. D. convention at Mt. Airy, and all except a few stayed over in Philadelphia till Tuesday before going to Washington, on account of a party given in their honor on Monday evening by Mrs. Nancy Moore, who had invited many of her Philadelphia friends to meet the visitors.

Miss Metha Kinn, who graduated from the Rochester School, has decided to make her home here, since coming from Buffalo last month. She is employed at the Hickok's. Recently she had a surprise, when her friends staged a nice birthday party for her. She was well remembered with lovely gifts. As the party broke up, all her friends wished her many more happy years to come.

Miss Helen Fay is back at the University, after spending her summer vacation in town. She expects to finish her course next June, so that she will be the third deaf girl to graduate from that University in its history.

Mr. Kowalski, of this city, who had been boarding with Mrs. W. Gibbs since his wife's death two years ago, has departed for Seattle, Washington, to make his home with his married daughter, whom he had not seen for almost twenty years. Mrs. W. Gibbs is breaking up her home, and she is planning on going somewhere to stay for a while.

Mr. Edward Kaercher, '26, of Gallaudet College, was the scribe's house guest over Labor Day, having come from Philadelphia, Pa. He was lavishly entertained while here. He attended the Frat banquet and also its annual picnic at Corbett's Glen. He reported a glorious time in this city. He and the scribe also had a pleasant outing at Watkins Glen, Sunday before Labor Day. According to his latest letter, Edward is getting along well at the Lutheran Seminary he entered September 20th, at Mt. Airy.

The Rochester Division, No. 52, had its annual banquet, which was held at Hotel Seneca, September 4th. It was well represented by a large number of Frats, as well as non-Frats.

The honor guests of the banquet were Brothers F. P. Gibson, of Chicago, and Shilton, of Toronto. Others from far and near were Brothers Frankenheim, of New York City; Thomas and Harter, of Utica; Marton, of Iliion, Merrill, and Lee; of Syracuse; R. McCabe, of Rome, and Coughlin and Snyder, of Buffalo. Besides these, more came for that occasion and everyone had a share of good times at the banquet, as well as at the Frat Picnic at Corbett Glen the following day. It was a surprise to find such a large crowd of deaf from all over the western part of New York at the picnic in spite of a downpour of rain.

Messrs. Yates Lansing and Le-grand Klock have broken up their abode at the Central Y. M. C. A., where they had lived for several years, and they moved to a nicely furnished apartment on Chestnut Street.

Mr. Benowitz and Mr. and Mrs. Colgan, both of Rochester, took an excursion train for Buffalo one Sunday recently, and they said they had a very pleasant time visiting with their loved ones at home in Buffalo. The scribe was there also, meeting his college pal, Ed. Harmon, of Jamestown, and they took the Haenzels, of Buffalo, for a long ride in the latter's Studebaker to Niagara Falls and Queenstown, Ont.

Mr. William Parkinson, of Fairport, had announced his engagement to Minnie Fravel, of Buffalo, and now the news has leaked out that they have been married since last September 28th. Congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. C. Peterson gave a surprise birthday party for Mr. W. Heffernan at his home on Cayuga St. a fortnight ago. His old friends all turned out there, wishing him bountiful happiness for his birthday.

Mrs. Smith, of Cortland, spent a fortnight of Labor Day visiting with her family on Caroline Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bliss, of this city, celebrated their twelve years of wedded life by a honeymoon trip to New York City, where they visited with their sister. Mr. Bliss never had a vacation for many years, and it was a well-earned rest for him to get away from his position for two weeks last month.

Roland Maxson is proud these days when he is driving around in his brand new car Oldsmobile. Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Francis also purchased a new sedan not long ago, and they are proud in showing their friends their new car.

Claude Samuelson made a flying trip home to Jamestown for the week-end in his Ford. His brother, Laurence, being engaged to Miss Bertha Cowdy, of Buffalo, will shortly be a benedict.

Mr. W. Collins, in charge of clam-bake and chicken dinners, had a large circle of his friends for a clam-baker Sunday before last.

Friends of William Cherry are sending their consolation and sympathy to him and his family, of Canandaigua, in the loss of his aged mother, who had departed into eternity last week.

Over eighty friends of Miss Halpen, of Cortland, turned out to surprise her with a lovely remembrance (the scribe has not learned what) for her long, faithful years as teacher and associate of the deaf here, at the Rochester School two Fridays ago.

Mr. Louis Pucci, of Washington, who had attended Gallaudet College for a couple of years, has secured a good position with the Syracuse Herald. He is planning to make a call on his friend, the scribe, at his apartment shortly.

Many friends of Mr. W. Cleveland, of Albion, were very glad he was recovering from bruises and shock, when he was run down by a passing automobile as he stepped out of his own car, one dark evening a fortnight ago. Up to this date, he is still in a dazed condition, but his friends wished him to be in best health again before long.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moore, of Trenton, N. J., were the guests of Principal and Mrs. Forrester at the Rochester School, three days last week. Thursday evening, at the Parish House of St. Luke's, they were entertained by a large number of deaf, who were all strangers to the charming couple. Mr. Moore gave an interesting talk, and Mrs. Moore gave a very sweet song in graceful signs.

Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Merrill have given up their home by renting it to some party, and have moved into a nice apartment on Seymour Street, Syracuse. Rev. Merrill recently had a communion service at St. Luke's, where over thirty friends turned out to receive the holy communion. The deaf of that church had a sausage roast at Sea Breeze last Saturday, and they reported a nice time in spite of bad weather.

W. J. O'Neil and his wife, of Kenosha, Wis., have been vacationing in this city for several weeks, and they are making a tour of the eastern part of the country for several months, probably till Christmas, when they will return home to Kenosha. Mr. O'Neil showed up at the Frat meeting recently, and he said he had been in town a week or so before meeting a deaf person at the Y. M. C. A.

Henry Swan's parents returned to their home on Oxford Street from Philadelphia, where they had witnessed the Dempsey and Tunney fight. They also made a trip to Baltimore, before they went to Philadelphia. Mr. Swan is completing the Grant Building in this city this autumn.

"Doc."

Rev. Dr. James H. Cloud.

The deaf of the United States have lost a wise and steadfast friend in the death of Rev. Dr. James H. Cloud, of St. Louis, who died on Wednesday, October 20th, after a long illness.

For a great many years his brilliant intellect, his tireless energy, his indomitable perseverance, was continuously exerted in behalf of the deaf as a class.

For over thirty years he was principal of a school for the deaf in the city of St. Louis. He was educated in the Illinois Institution as a boy, and knew the mind of a deaf child from intimate association with them. And when the study and training of a school and college course had transformed him from a little deaf boy to a scholarly and polished gentleman, his whole being was wrapped up in educating others.

He never faltered in upholding the Combined System of education, which he believed is essential to their well-being and progress and happiness. He took the broad ground that all methods of developing them mentally should be adapted to the individual aptitudes. He was opposed strongly to the "single method for all." If children did not respond sufficiently to any one of the methods of proven worth, some other method was resorted to that would yield better results.

Nor were his labors confined to the children alone. Among the adults he was ever on the alert to secure their rights and to increase their advantages. He combatted all prejudice that hampered their worldly success.

He was president of the National Association of the Deaf for two terms of three years. This is an association that counts a membership in every State of the Union. This service entailed a vast amount of work, which was performed without compensation.

As a minister of the Gospel, he brought into the silent lives all the comfort and cheer and encouragement that religion inspires and bestows.

The "silent world" is a loser by his passing to that reward which awaits all who do good.

He was a genial companion, a deep thinker, a logical controversialist, a sincere friend, and an earnest Christian gentleman.

The subjoined, taken from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is a brief but comprehensive sketch of his life:

Rev. James Henry Cloud, of 2606 Virginia avenue, an Episcopal clergyman and teacher of deaf-mutes in St. Louis for more than thirty years, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, at St. Luke's Hospital, at the age of 64 years, after an illness of six months. His condition was not considered critical until last Friday, when he was removed from his home to the hospital.

Dr. Cloud occupied a position unique in St. Louis and in the country at large. He was a highly cultured scholar, having received both the B. A. and M. A. degrees, although all of his studies were carried on entirely by the eye and not by ear. He had also the degree of doctor of divinity. Being himself deaf, he could sympathize and help those he taught, and he has been of service to hundreds of deaf people in St. Louis.

He was principal for thirty-two years of the Gallaudet public school for deaf-mutes, at Theresa Avenue and Henrietta Street, doing this work on week-days, and on Sundays officiating at services for deaf-mutes at St. Thomas Mission for the Deaf, in the Bofinger Memorial Chapel of Christ Church Cathedral. Here weddings, christenings, and funerals, and all religious services were carried on in the sign language.

One of Dr. Cloud's four children who survive him is named Daniel Tuttle Cloud, in honor of the late Bishop Tuttle, of whom the clergyman was an intimate friend. Like Bishop Tuttle, he himself was a missionary, having served as missionary to the deaf in the dioceses of Missouri, West Missouri, Nebraska and Kentucky.

Rev. Cloud was born in Chambersburg, Ind., April 26, 1862. He was a graduate of the Illinois School for the Deaf at Jacksonville, and of Gallaudet College at Washington, D. C. He also studied at Harvard. In 1892 he married Miss Lulu O. Herdman, of Taylorville, Ill., who survives him with their four children: Mrs. George M. Flint, of Dallas, Texas; John K. Cloud, of New York; George H. Cloud, of St. Louis, and Daniel Tuttle Cloud, of Olathe, Kansas.

He was assistant minister at All Souls' Church for the Deaf in Philadelphia, becoming in 1890 the minister to St. Thomas' Mission here. He taught from 1890 until four years ago, when he gave up that work in order to devote himself entirely to the mission. Arrangements for his funeral will be announced upon the arrival of his son from New York.

THE TEACHER

A teacher who teaches only to make a living, who goes into his schoolroom in the morning simply because he is obliged to, ought to seek other employment. If he appears before his class with the appearance of one who is entering a prison to remain a certain number of hours, he need not expect his pupils to acquire any more fondness for the school-room than he has. The teacher is the head and front of the school, the exemplar of his pupils, and as is the teacher, so are those who are placed under his instruction. Conscience should force him to do his whole duty if inclination does not.

The school-room can be made a pleasant place or it can be made a very disagreeable place, and the teacher is responsible. Go before your pupils with a bright face and a cheery good-morning, and let them see that you are really interested in their success, and they will almost surely do their part. You will thus gain their full respect and confidence and they will do all in their power to please you. Your school work will move along like smoothly oiled machinery and when the session ends you will be gratified at the results you have accomplished.

Enter upon your duties day after day as a slave going to his task, and your work will be a continuous drag until the end of the year when, if you have any conscience left, you will be mortified that you have accomplished so little.—Minnesota Companion.

THE NOBLE SPIRIT

Is one of Mrs. Wilkins-Freeman's best short stories, we read of a husband who is a hard-working man, so intent on his schemes for money getting that he has grown thoughtless of the higher obligations of life. For forty years he has been promising to replace the tumble-down farmhouse with a new one; but he has built barns instead, and now he is breaking ground for another. The patient wife turns to her endless round of housework, smarting under the sense of neglect and ill treatment.

She is baking pies, and she hurries with her task, for the morning is slipping away, and a piece of pie for dinner is the husband's darling indulgence. It never enters her mind that she might retaliate by the petty revenge of a pieless meal, and if it had, she would have dismissed the thought as altogether unworthy.

Mrs. Freeman adds the sage reflection: "Nobility of character manifests itself at loopholes, when it is not provided with large doors." "Large doors" are not the ordinary belongings of small lives. What our friend said the world know of us comes mainly by loophole glimpses of the interior, but these, after all, are more significant than we are willing to believe. Doing a "small thing" belittles the doer. It is a loophole disclosure of a narrow mind and a mean spirit. We often think that "holding a grudge" is only the firmness that self-respect demands when we know that we are on the right side of a quarrel. Really it proves only a mind too narrow and selfish to forget and forgive.

Gallaudet College

Mr. Stahl Butler gave a short talk in Chapel, Sunday evening, October 17th, entitled "The Fifth Sparrow," the gist of which was that the Almighty Father is always with every living being, no matter how insignificant it is. In Jerusalem they sell two sparrows for a penny, but if the buyer wants two pennies' worth, a fifth sparrow is thrown in for good measure. Although worth nothing, God has some use for this fifth sparrow.

The O. W. L. S. has established a new scholarship of $1000, the interest of which is to be given, not loaned, as is the case in the other funds existing on Kendall Green, to the most deserving Co-ed, necessarily a member of the O. W. L. S. This year's scholarship has been awarded to Miss Della Kittleson, '29, of Wisconsin. Believing this to be entirely a commendable innovation, President Hall was delighted to announce its establishment in Chapel Hall. The original intention was to provide a scholarship of like amount for every class in college, with an eye for scholarship as well as for financial needs, for a girl in every class in Gallaudet College, but so far funds have been raised for only one general scholarship. In due time, however, sufficient funds will undoubtedly be raised for four scholarships.

Friday night, October 22d, the student body was treated to a most enjoyable moving-picture program, which is as follows:

- Wild Beasts of Borneo (2 reels)
The Lady Bird, a scientific study (1 reel)
Little People of the Sea, a scientific study (1 reel)
Peeping at Planets, Hodge Podge, (1 reel)
All Star Freaks (1 reel)

The Senior German Class challenged the French Classes of both Senior and Junior Classes to a football game, which is hardly practicable as there are six varsity players in the German class and none in the French classes. A fierce discussion arose, however, on all sides, the result of which was that Krug, '27, became the center of a furor. In the midst of a violent argument with Braunagel, '27, one of Krug's forceful gestures coincided most unhappily with the tip of a heavily-laden tray of dishes carried by a Prep. Not one dish escaped from being broken into many more fragments than those of poor Humpty Dumpty. The argument has not been settled yet, but if it is to be continued, we may rest assured that it will be carried on in a place where there are no dishes for Krug to smash.

Sunday morning, October 24th, we had with us two guests, Professor Day, Superintendent of the Missouri School for the Deaf, and Mr. McIntyre, Superintendent of the Iowa School for the Deaf, who are on their way to the Conference of the Superintendents and Principals of the Schools for the Deaf, to be held this week at the Maryland School in Frederickburg. We are preparing to entertain those attending the Conference, Thursday and Friday. The Class of '30 will kindly react the play they gave last year for the benefit of the Edward Miner Gallaudet fund, while the girls will do something in the way of entertainments. Quite a number of schools are going to be represented at the Conference, and it is our sincere hope that their delegates will be able to look Gallaudet over.

GRIDDERS INACTIVE

On account of the cancellation of the Lovola game, which was to be played here on October 23d, there was no game on that date, but according to Manager Jacobson, there will be a practice game Wednesday, October 27th, with the George Washington University eleven. Saturday, October 30th, the Gallaudet gridders are scheduled to battle with the University of Maryland football team, on the Marylanders' field in College Park, Md. It is likely that a big crowd of rooters will accompany the Buff and Blue warriors. If Manager Jacobson's plans do not go amiss, the trip will be made in two big busses. College Park being only fifteen miles out in the country.

As a result of the Schuykill battering two weeks ago, quite a number of our players were sore and stiff but by now most of them have limbered up to a great extent. Coach Hughes has been steadily driving his men through a strenuous routine of signal practice and scrimmages throughout those two weeks.

Two new stands were built to accommodate the big crowds expected in the future, but upon completion it was found that they were much too small for comfort, so they will have to be taken down and rebuilt on a bigger scale.

What has become of the old-fashioned wife who felt sorry for her husband because he had to work too hard?

SEATTLE.

The evening of October 7th, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Root started the winter entertainment by a card party at their home. There were three tables, and an enjoyable time passed. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next party will be at the residence of the Bodleys, October 21st.

Lawrence Belser, in company with Mr. Robert Miller, motored to Wenatchee, 160 miles, from here, Saturday, October 3d, and returned home the next day. Larry visited his mother who, he was surprised to find, had her hair bobbed. Mr. Miller enjoyed the trip thoroughly, and thought the country has wonderful apple orchards.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Reeves accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Doro in their Star coach to Tacoma recently, and took dinner with Mr. Will Rowland. Mrs. Rowland was in Seattle a week or so ago, to see a specialist and dropped in to see the Silents' bowling game, in which our boys were defeated.

There were 27 members at the October meeting of the Seattle N. F. S. D. Those from Tacoma were Messrs. Lowell, Key, Ecker, Huffman and Cumming. Mr. Cumming was a visitor, coming from Colorado.

John Skoglund lingered in Seattle for five days after he attended the funeral of his brother-in-law in Everett. He drove 325 miles in 13 hours from Spokane, to this city, in his new Essex coach. This is fast time, as he had to cross the Cascades.

Mrs. Emily Eaton visited with Mrs. Bert Haire for a week, at her home in Lake Burien. The ladies have some surprises for our coming bazaar for the Lutheran Church. Lloyd, the Haires' only son, became a boy scout a few days ago.

There is some strong attraction in Aberdeen for Lawrence Bradbury, as he has been there several times the past few months. There is an extremely nice young girl living in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Reeves, with the latter's mother, proprietors of the Argonna Apt. purchased another apartment of 87 nicely furnished rooms the first of October. They will stay in their present quarters, as the Princeton is only six blocks away in the Broadway district.

Annie Kingdon's mother was taken suddenly sick and her left limb became paralyzed for a few days. She is getting better now. Mrs. George Raison returned home from Bellingham, where she was visiting her sick mother for over a month. She is working at the Imperial Candy Co.

Mrs. May Wojoska is at the Providence hospital, having underwent an operation. A while ago she quit her position as a housekeeper for a family in Seattle, and has been living with her son and mother in Everett. Mrs. Dean Horn was tendered a farewell party by Miss Alice Wilberg, at her apartment, given for the younger set.

Cecil Brown, who graduated from the University of Washington last June, is now a high school teacher in Kapowstien, near Tacoma. He intends to enter a medical college in a couple years. Being a son of deaf parents, he associates with the Seattle friends quite frequently.

Some people certainly have amusing ideas about deafness. A Russian inventor, at the place where Mrs. John Brinkman is employed, rigged up a contrivance along the lines of a railroad pendulum signal and attached it to the phone. When the pendulum began to swing attracting Mrs. Brinkman's attention she was expected to answer the phone. By the way, Mrs. Brinkman's hand which was accidentally crushed in a machine, is improving. Very soon she will return to her work, which has been highly praised by her employer.

At the October meeting of our local club, the P. S. A. D. Jack Bertram moved to incorporate the association, and the motion passed unanimously. A committee of five, consisting of Chairman A. W. Wright, Mrs. Jack Bertram, Messrs. Root and Partridge were chosen.

Mrs. Pauline Gustin wrote that she is still enjoying her visit in Chicago very much. She will be on her way back home about the last of this month.

While in Chicago last August, Rev. George W. Gaertner visited a friend, who owned a radio store, and he was asked to pick out a radio he thought he could afford at a wholesale price. Finally he decided on a $50 outfit that he could have for about $25. His friend answered "All right, you will get it by express soon after your return home." When the package was opened up, a few weeks ago, our minister found his radio friend had played a trick on him by substituting a $125.00 outfit that will tune in as far as Chicago.

Of course Rev. Gaertner is immensely pleased at his $25 investment.

One evening Little Walter, the baby of the Root family, wandered from home through the golf links near by and down to Madison Park. For three or four hours a search was made by neighbors and a policeman. The little fellow was returning home, and was a block away when his father and neighbor found him.

Mrs. Cecilia Watson, of Portland, Oregon, received an invitation to visit all winter in Los Angeles with her old pupil, Henry Guenther, who made a fortune by inventing a machine that turns out 330 cans a minute. He has a new, powerful motor that can do 90 miles an hour. Mrs. Watson is the mother of Mrs. Tillinghast, wife of the Superintendent of the South Dakota school. Mrs. Tillinghast, in many ways like her mother, lived and played with the deaf all of her life her young daughter, Miss Tillinghast, who is following her mother's footsteps, took a normal course at Gallaudet College, and is now a teacher for the deaf. Several of her pupils at the Flint, Mich. school have gone to Gallaudet College. Supt. and Mrs. Tillinghast are much loved there, just like the ex-superintendent and Mrs. James Watson were at the Vancouver school years ago.

PUGET SOUND

DENVER.

Do not forget the biggest Convention ever to be in Denver next summer, July 11th to the 16th, 1927.

The Frats had their monthly social on October 16th, a good sized crowd was present and amusing games were indulged in. The crowning stunt of the evening was Joe Haden's sketch of a young man calling on his girl. It looks to us as if Joe recited some of his own experiences. On the 30th, the Aux-Frats will stage a social, and from the reports that we hear it will be a humdinger.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Mount were in an auto accident recently, but escaped injury. The Ford car that collided with them was turned over and the three occupants were considerably bruised.

Mrs. Luella Kent, wife of Alfred L. passed away on October 12th, following an illness of nearly a year. The funeral services were on October 15th, Bishop Ingle and Rev. Mr. Grace officiating. Besides Mr. Kent, five children are left to mourn her passing. Mrs. Kent was an indefatigable worker in All Souls' Guild up to the time ill health forced her to give up all activities and during hour long illness she never failed to inquire after its progress. Mrs. Kent was the type of woman, who having a brilliant mind that would have carried her far among the deaf, preferred to devote herself to her home.

The Tansey and Harvat combination were hunting one Sunday recently. All Tansey was able to get was an enormous Jackrabbit while Harvat failed to hit anything. The scene of their operations was the Fred Bates farm at Ault.

Winter activities are picking up at a great rate, as shown by the numerous socials that have been held recently, all too numerous for the reporter to keep track of, one of them being a surprise party at the home of Mrs. Florence McArdle on South Pennsylvania Street. Those present were Helena Kindavater, Helena Krodshen, Bill Skeehan, Mr. Parks, of Kansas, besides Florence herself and her folks. A dandy time was had by all playing fantan, 500, and pool.

The Colorado School football team has already played two games, losing one and winning the other. It is to be hoped that the team will be able to play in Denver again this year.

The Guild of All Souls' Mission will hold their second annual Bazaar on November 10th, afternoon and evening. Many articles will be on sale and refreshments will be served in the evening. Mrs. Lesley is the president of the Guild.

Jules Vaughn, the wandering Colorado boy is reported to be in North Carolina at this time visiting relatives. Jules worked at the Colorado School for a number of years, resigning last August in order to travel about the country. We warrant he will not find any place as good as Colorado.

Ray Cummings and Monger thinking that pastures farthest off look the greenest, went to Washington state recently to get work. Reports are that they did not find anything, so went to Idaho to look around. Ray has been working at the city auditorium for over four years, and we understand that he was given a vacation for this trip west.

October 21st, Rev. Grace left Denver for Omaha, Minneapolis, Sioux Falls, and intermediate points to hold services for the deaf.

Dates ahead. November 10, All Souls' Guild Bazaar. November 20, Frat Social. December 10, (?)

Argo Day, in memory of Dr. Argo, was celebrated in Denver on October 8th. Short sketches of Dr. Argo, being given by Mr. Northern, Miss Lawver, Mr. Janovick, Miss Wolfert and Mrs. Northern.

PHILADELPHIA

News items for this column should be sent to James Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The older deaf of Philadelphia, who knew the Rev. Dr. J. H. Cloud deeply regret his passing away. Dr. Cloud began his studies for the ministry in this city, and while attending the Divinity School, he was also connected with All Souls' Church for the Deaf, as assistant minister under the Rev. J. M. Koehler. Subsequently he went West, and completed his studies for the priesthood in the Diocese of St. Louis, and continued the work among the deaf there and in other Mid-west dioceses, relieving the late Rev. A. W. Mann of a part of his extensive field until his death. There is no doubt that Dr. Cloud, gifted as he was with a brilliant mind and all the qualities of a good preacher, was fitted for a much larger charge than the one it was his lot to have. We do not doubt but that, had opportunity offered itself during his young and vigorous manhood, he would have devoted his whole or greater attention to church work among the deaf, instead of branching out into school work. And, having made such a signal success of the latter, what could he not have done in the free pursuit of his first choice—the ministry to the deaf. Albeit, he was both a devout minister and an able teacher, and he will ever be remembered as such for generations to come.

As one who knew Dr. Cloud in his early struggles and worked with him at "All Souls" before, during and after his connection with the Parish, we mourn deeply his passing, and tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Honsenmyer, of York, Pa., made a flying trip to Philadelphia, by an automobile, on Sunday morning, October 24th, to see the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Reider. Leaving York at 8 p.m., Saturday, they reached their destination at about 1 a.m.

Having come without notice, they were, of course, unable to get inside, as Mr. and Mrs. Reider were deep and hard in slumber upon a new Simmons' mattress, from which neither their signal-lights, nor the barking of the Chihuahuan fox-terrier, recently acquired from the Merrill family of Syracuse, N. Y., could arouse them. By a mere chance, entrance into the house was gained at about 3 a.m. They left again for home in the forenoon.

Mr. Andrew C. Seay, of Wilmington, Del., a house decorator, was recently successfully operated on for appendicitis. Mr. Seay's occupation brings him to Philadelphia a good deal and he is well known here, being a member of Philadelphia Division, No. 30 N. F. S. D.

Theodore Natter of this city, accompanied a niece to Nevada, on the 18th of this month. The trip is being made by automobile.

Time and again we are "lectured to" by a certain lady for not inserting news items about the Beth Israel Association of the Deaf in this column, although we have repeatedly told the lady that she sends her items a day or two too late. Would that some one would help us by telling the lady that we can not hold up the JOURNAL to please her.

Recently Mr. Houston met Mr. R. T. King in Frankford, and asked him about his deaf brother, William, and was surprised to be informed that about five years ago, while walking on the railroad, he was struck by a locomotive and injured on the head. He sane Asylum. The unfortunate man is now an inmate of the Norristown Insaid to be thirty-two years old, and was educated at the Mt. Airy Institution. Let this case be a warning to other deaf persons, who trespass upon the railroad.

Mesdames Paul, Partington, and Dantzer are planning to spend a night at the home of Mrs. Partington's daughter, Mrs. Gertrude P. Weston, in New Jersey, next Wednesday.

On Saturday evening, October 23d, Miss Margaret Donohue tendered, Mrs. Geo. T. Sanders a belated surprise party in honor of her birthday, which occurred over a month ago, or on September 12th. Needless to say, that a very pleasant evening was passed.

Mrs. Lydia Detweiler, in company with other relatives, enjoyed a day's outing to Washington, D. C., and Arlington, on October 17th. She reports a most enjoyable time.

William C. Shepherd is enjoying life by making frequent trips to other cities and places. His last trip was to Boston, Mass., on October 9th. Mr. Shepherd is a widower, and a cloth weaver by occupation.

Only a little over a month's time is left for the Sesqui-centennial Exposition to keep open, unless cold weather closes it sooner. No heating arrangements were provided, hence the exposition, like a shorn lamb, is at the mercy of the weather. There is some talk of re-opening the exposition next year under a new management, but that will only be possible with substantial help from the National Government. A committee of representative men has been appointed, which will make every effort to have the exposition re-opened and continued next year, but no one can be too sanguine at this time that the committee will be successful in its efforts.

This year as usual a Hallow'en festival will be held at All Souls' Parish House on Saturday evening, October 30th. Admission, 35 cents; eats, etc., extra.

Portland, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming, of Oswego, Ore., motored up to Salem, Ore., on Saturday, October 2d, to take in the big State Fair. They rode up with Mrs. Fleming's father and brother. They report that they had a good time, and viewed some fine exhibits made by pupils of the Salem Deaf school.

Mrs. Moller, who was very sick recently, is now much improved. She is the mother of Miss Helen Moller.

Portland Frats are preparing for a big time at the Hallow'en Party, on Saturday night, October 30th, at Redmen's Hall. All deaf are welcome.

The writer of these items was sorry to read of Rev. Charles' death. During a visit in Detroit, Mich., in 1924, I had a chance to attend one of his services at St. John's Episcopal Church, and enjoyed his sermon very much. Well, it is a great loss to the deaf, as he was a real deaf preacher. But as the late President McKinley said on his death bed, "God's will be done, and not ours."

Those from out of town, who lately became members of Portland Division, No. 41, N. F. S. D., to take the obligation were Ray Hummel, N. A. and L. C. Peterson, brothers, all of Salem, and Mr. Frank, of Sherwood, Ore. Also Howard Taylor, of Portland, who was one of the interesting players at the big Midway picnic ball game last July. Look out for a strong No. 41 baseball team in the near future, so says Manager O. Van Eman, who will organize it.

The Ladies of the S. F. L. Club met at the home of Mr. J. Jorg, out at Ruby Junction. Mrs. Jorg, Mrs. Bennick and Mrs. Gannon were hostesses. All motored out in three or four large large autos.

Mr. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Tolson, of McMunnville, Ore., are at Hood River, working in apple orchards and packing plants.

Mrs. B. L. Craven was reported on the sick list, but nothing serious. Mrs. Frank Johnson is still very weak, but has returned home from the hospital.

Mr. Arthur Kizer, of Roberts, Ore., fell from his horse recently, and was injured about his legs and head, but not serious, as he thinks he will be back in the saddle soon again. He is a member of Portland Division, No. 41, N. F. S. D.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morton, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. J. O. Reichle, just returned from a trip to Paris, France, and other parts of Europe. They visited Mr. Morton's former home near Oxford, England. The latter is in the realty and insurance business in Portland. They were nearly four months on the trip.

Mrs. G. White fell from a box, spraining her wrist and sustaining other bruises, but will be all right in ten days time.

Mr. Anthony Kautz, one of Portland's most prominent deaf gentlemen, went to a local hospital in Portland, on Monday, October 11th, to undergo an operation for a rupture. Although not a serious operation, his many friends are expecting him around soon, as both Mr. and Mrs. Kautz are popular among the Portland deaf.

Mr. Royal Cooke is a busy man these days, as he has about completed a new addition to his little home. They live as neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. George Kreidt, the latter being a sister to Mrs. Cooke.

Miss Neva Jackson, of Gresham, Ore., was a caller in Portland on Sunday, October 3d. She was accompanied by a young deaf man, by the name of Sharp, in whose car they came down, and took in the service at the Hope Lutheran Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lynch, formerly of Portland, but now of Salem, were down to take in the meetings of the Frats and S. F. L. Club. They made the trip in less than two hours in their Ford touring car. Mr. Lynch has a steady job at Salem, but wishes to live in Portland, where they both were popular. Employment in Portland is pretty quiet this fall, and it is understood the later city has not many industries and very few factories where work is steady.

Oct. 12th 1926

GREAT MEN at close range often seem too ordinary, so human, that it inspires new faith in oneself.

No MORE alarming combination could be imagined than a dominating personality driving a five-ton truck. There are always five buttons on the Chinaman's coat to remind him of the five virtues recommended by Confucius: humanity, justice, order, prudence, rectitude.

CHICAGO.

JAMES HENRY CLOUD

Comes the tidings, "Cloud is dead!"
Cloud, the clean and happy-hearted.
Silver touched the tempered red
Of his hair—ere it departed;
Auburn VanDyke always trim;
Ish eyes so keen, yet kindly;
Sturdy figure, strong and slim.
We, who loved him, followed blindly
In the pathways where he led—
Followed to the bitter end.
Now James Henry Cloud is dead—
Teacher, benefactor, friend,
Preacher, patriot and fighter—
Ever ready to defend
Right from Wrong—and make Right
righter;
Gifted he with common sense,
Staunch amid convention clamor,
Swaying through with eloquence—
Signs which hit like some trip-hammer.
I can see him—up above—
Pacing forward, prim and proud,
When Christ summons to his love
Reverend Brother James H. Cloud.

CLOUD IS DEAD!

No more will convention halls ring with Cloud's fiery sign-eloquence, as he stands at Armageddon and battles for the right. No more will "Illinois' Greatest Graduate" bring added laurels to his alma mater. Famed as a preacher, teacher, author, lecturer, politician, and friend-in-need, James Henry Cloud succumbed the morning of October 20th, from after-effects of several operations, which started with a siege of "flu," contracted in Oklahoma a year ago.

And this siege of "flu" would probably have been averted had the Rev. Dr. Cloud not endured the chilly waters at Atlanta, 1923, when the carnival raft on which he sat enthroned capsized in midlake throwing the six dancing girls and himself in the water. Blinded by the glare of searchlights, one of the girls and the negro boatman drowned, but President Dr. Cloud fortunately grasped a floating plank and clung to it until boats put out to the rescue. Still, at his age, the experience was unfortunate. It weakened his constitution. Apparently always in the very "pink of condition," he proved what his brother reverends had already proven—Rev. Allabough in 1919, and Rev. Charles just after last summer's N. A. D. convention—that when those healthy, clean-living, inspiring individuals go, they go fast.

For some thirty-two years Dr. Cloud was principal of the Gallaudet Day School in St. Louis, and therefore will descend to fame as the very last of a long line of deaf heads of schools for the deaf. He was also spiritual guardian of the Episcopal flock. A few years ago someone brought pressure on the Bishop, with the result Dr. Cloud was given his choice of either relinquishing his pastorate or his teaching position. He preferred the former, so Gallaudet School knew him no more, except in advisory capacity.

The Silent Worker will miss his mastery articles.

And he will be doubly missed at Denver, when the show-down battle comes, to settle one and for all, who rules our organization.

Dr. Cloud was in the habit of running up to Chicago, at his own expense, whenever he was needed for lectures in any good cause—especially for the Illinois Home for Aged Deaf. About his last local appearance was at a meeting in (but not of) the Silent A. C., in March of 1925, where he was insulted and ignored shamefully, while the "Tammany" machine ground smoothly on. He would have been a convincing and consummate witness of this damnable precedent, when the appeal comes up next summer; so the Dark Angel must be in league with "Tammany" in very sooth.

Cloud held a long list of offices in various societies, including two terms as President of the National Association of the Deaf—1917-'23. Last summer's N. A. D. Convention was the first he missed in some forty years. He attended four of the last five conventions of the society holding its Silver Jubilee this year, as either delegate or alternate. I once offered to run him for president, supplanting Anderson—conditional on his moving to Chicago. While expressing his delight, Cloud frankly warned me that to elect a minister of the gospel to the presidency would be detrimental to our recruiting members of other faiths.

That shows the high calibre of the man—the unselfish spirit of organization before self. His statement that the fact there were two Reverends already on the list of officers was hampering us in circles, is well worth pondering.

Francis P. Gibson and myself had for some time been thinking of running down to St. Louis, on an excursion, to pay our respects to the grand old leader. Unfortunately, we put it off too long. And it is now forever too late.

Besides his widow, Dr. Cloud leaves three children. One, the daughter, is married to a prosperous Texan. Dan, the youngest, is superintendent of the Kansas State school for the deaf. John, who starred as fullback at Gallaudet College while a normal fellow in 1915 or so, and who won a lot of medals for work on the front in France and Italy during the World War, is connected with a leading Wall St. firm, and seems destined to become one of the big men of America. "Like father, like son." A great strain, the Cloud blood.

I write this on the desk where Dr. Cloud and I used to confer together on important problems; and I seem to see him again giving his fatherly advice: "I wouldn't advertise the personal and private failings of my enemies; hammer home any proof of knavery in the organization, yes; but remember Christ said 'Judge not, that ye be not judged.'" We will sorely miss James Henry Cloud!

After having lived together just seven years, John D. Sullivan and Helen Stubbs were married October 16th, at the Silent A. C.

The Nestor of the Sac and that petite little English lass, who bore him a daughter three years ago, were united in the "unholy bonds of matter-o'-money" when "Parson" Robert Powers slipped the "ring" (a doughnut) on her finger. It was a hilarious mock-ceremony, celebrating their 7th wedding anniversary, and all the main participants came fantastically arrayed. Mrs. Sullivan and her "maid of dishonor," Miss Rhea Friedman, bore big bouquets of carrots and radishes. "Best-of-all-men" Leiter wore a big paper napkin in lieu of a boutonniere; "Pop" Perry plastered his hair and aped the high-collared "Cholly" type of 30 years ago. Block and Mrs. Paul Belling also rigged out in vaudeville costumes. But the high-light of the entire side-splitter was "Parson" Powers' rendition of a tippy country marriage-squire. "Beloved, we are ass-embled here today in the name of Friend Satan, to unite this unregenerate Big Brute, Hell-en, to timid, covering, retiring little John," he began. (If you don't see the sarcasm here, know Helen is 4 feet, 11 inches and weighs 98-lbs., a demure Lillian Gish type; while Sully is an energetic go-getter of a cross between Tom Meighan, Milton Sills and Wallace Beery.) Powers had frequent reference to the Official Postal Guide while conducting the ceremony, and was most rude and insistent when "well-wishers" endeavored to correct his interpretation of an "improper" marriage ceremony. He had a snappy come-back to every remark, but when cornered, would give: "Don't bother me; me smart; me smarter than Meagher as reporter." Somehow that seemed to tickle the crowd—but I did not like it.

It was an "exclusive affair," 53 selected guests "excluding" one dollar each. Mrs. Wondra displayed her talents as a fancy decorator—some of her crepe paper creations were marvelous. Following the ceremony and some "ceremonies" lasting two hours in the big Sac auditorium, a tasty banquet was served downstairs—a real banquet, with decorations, speeches, and a "pome," the Sullivans being presented a check for $25 as "cigarette money." The Joe Wondras, Paul Bellings and Chet Codman managed the affair. Wondra has material for a corking funny drama from that cast, when he gets up another dramatic offering. The Sullivan "pome" took the form of an acoustic, spelling "Sully":

Smiling son of sunshine; Irish to the core;
Understanding human-kind;
sprightly; never sore;
Laughing at his troubles; slaving for the "Sac";
Loyal; bears big burdens on his brawny back—
You and I alike desery who's a Crackerjack!

Mrs. Fred Hartung managed the monthly "500" and bunco party at the Pas-a-Pas, seven tables of each game.

"A Wonderful Monkey at the Circus" was the title of the 40-minute act at the vaudeville performance in the M. E. "citadel," the same night. Charlie Sharpnack, as the monk, and Waite Vaughan, as his trainer, were much "applesauce" by an appreciative audience. Admission 15; receipts, with the cafeteria profits, totaled $30. Sharpnack also announced his brother had donated $200 towards the endowment fund.

The next day, Sunday, two other social affairs came off—a bunco and "500" at the Chicago League of Hebrew Deaf, on the West Side, and a bunco by Chicago Council No. 1, Knights and Ladies of De'l' Epee, at Sodality Hall, 11th and May Streets. I found no improvement in the latter since I last saw it eight years ago, but they are shortly to move into their new quarters, costing some $50,000. I understand—which will place them on a par with the splendid Silent A. C. Some twenty tables played. During the games, "recess" was twice called to enable the players to witness some of the old films shown on a screen at one end of the room—Charlie Chaplin's "Roller Skating Rink," for example—which enlivened the night and made the rafters ring.

Chicago's next big date is the 25th anniversary banquet of N. F. S. D. Division No. 1, at the Auditorium Hotel, Saturday night,

November 6th. As this is written, a few plates still remain at $2 per; and the out-of-town influx will receive first choice if they report in time. As the capacity of the hall is strictly limited to 300 banqueters, that means some of the put-if-offs will be "left on bases." The program of after-dinner stunts is better than anything ever before presented in Chicago, and should alone be worth the price of admission. Past Grand President Jacob J. Kleinhaus is coming in from Niles, Mich., at our express, as the guest of honor—both he and Gibson having served both as presidents of No. 1 and of the N. F. S. D. (or F. S. D. as it used to be known).

The very last of Chicago's quota at the N. A. D. convention in Washington last August, to arrive back home, was Mrs. Harry Leiter, who returned early in October, with her two-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Eva Dorchester Carlson died at her mother's home, in Texas, October 13th. Poor blood was the cause.

Sol Goldberg, having been struck and badly hurt by autos twice this year, his wife has entered into competition with him for the auto-accident championship—and is enjoying an injured hip as a consequence. "Competition is the life of trade."

The Washington Barrows, Gus Boltzes, and one other, autoped to Kan-kakee on the 16th, where they spent two days on the shooting preserves.

Mrs. Joe Wondra recently spent a Sunday with Andy Knauffs in Aurora.

Born—October 11th, a son, to the Hacketts—formerly Grace Hasenstab.

Dates ahead: October 30th—Bowen vs. Illinois State School for the Deaf foot-ball game, Soldiers' Field, 2:15 P. M. Reception at Silent A. C. for the team and band planned for that night. Halloween social at Pas. November 5th—Auction, benefit of the Home for Aged Deaf—all welcome, male or female, 6th—25th ANNIVERSARY BANQUET, Frat division No. 1, Auditorium Hotel, 8 P. M. 20th—League Hebrew Deaf, 2d Annual Ball. Binco and "500," Pas. 24—Sac Masque and "500."

A "Wooden Wedding"

A "wooden wedding" party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Herrmann, Elizabeth, N. J., last Saturday evening, in honor of the couple's fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Herrmann received a large number of handsome and useful gifts. Various merry games were indulged in, besides several other games being competed for prizes donated by the honored couple.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William Battersby, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Metzler, Bernard Doyle, Andrew Maclay Charles Quigley, John Uhl, Misses Sarah Goodstein, Helen Lynch, Clementine Tenner, Grace Rae, Anna Uhouse, Helen Bath, Ellen McKeon and Anna Klepper.

OUR ALMA MATER

To be back amid the familiar surroundings of his Alma Mater, after an absence of some twenty-three years, and to be a member of the household is a unique experience in a man's life. Here we are back in the same school-room where we first received the light of education, in the same dining-room where we ate hash and hominy, in the same study-hall where the teacher on duty reproached us for going to sleep during study hour. We sit on the same spacious front porch where we spent many a pleasant Sunday and evening. We may ramble through the same woods where we used to catch rabbit in traps, and eat apples from the same orchard, where we used to take quite a few while the superintendent's eyes were looking the other way. Instead of being that little happy school boy, we are here in the capacity of teacher and advisor to those many boys now going the same road through school life which we trod years ago.

We are also back with the man whose work has made our coming here to receive training possible, and this time to do whatever we can to make his remaining years easier and happier ones, for his hair and beard are now turning white, and it is time he should be reaping the reward of his labors.

To our Alma Mater we dedicate the vigorous part of our life.—O. W. Underhill in Deaf Carolinian.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Woman's Parish Aid Society of St. Ann's Church, held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, October 21st. A good number was in attendance. There is quite a buzz of activity among the members, getting ready for the coming Fair, to be held in the guild room, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 11, 12 and 13th. Admission will be ten cents. Plenty of useful articles will be on sale for all to choose from for Christmas gifts or personal use.

The Men's Club also held its meeting on the same date, and various church business was transacted. The Club will have charge of the Halloween party at St. Ann's, on the evening of October 30th. Admission will be thirty-five cents. A good time is assured all who come.

The following Memorial Minute was adopted by the Club, to be spread on the minute book, and printed in the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL:

"The Men's Club of St. Ann's Church records, with profound sorrow, the death of Adolph Louis Pfandler, on September 26th, 1926. Mr. Pfandler was a member of the Men's Club since its inception twelve years ago, and was one of its most active and interested workers. He rarely failed to attend its meetings, and cheerfully accepted the various duties assigned him to further the interests of the Club and the Church. He was earnest and faithful in carrying out these duties, no matter how humble they were, and he took a genuine pleasure in assuming the responsibilities imposed on him by his fellow members, feeling, doubtless, that they were a tribute to his ability and an evidence of the confidence they had in him. He was a man of an unusual cheerful disposition, which even the most adverse circumstances failed to discourage. He was an earnest and faithful churchman; because brought up in a hard school of experience he knew the value of the Church to his silent brethren, as the Church had proved her power and worth and influence in his own life. He was affectionate and loyal in his friendships, straightforward and honest in his dealings with his fellow men, and was respected by all who knew him. The funeral was held on Wednesday, September 28th, in the Church which he loved and where, as he once said, most of the happiest hours of his life had been passed. There we took leave of our brother, commending his soul to the care of our most merciful Saviour, in the sure and certain hope of a joyful resurrection."

As is the present custom, both societies assembled together, after their meetings had adjourned, and had the Parish meeting. The church property is being constantly improved and the members take proper pride in it. The furnace is being remodelled to give greater heat and radiating surface from less coal. New automatic valves are replacing all old ones on all the radiators, and some changes in piping made, so the vestry room and altar space will be more easily heated. Heretofore, while the congregation sat in comfort and "listened" to the service, the minister and members of the choir generally were wishing they had on fur coats.

Painting and renovating of all the rooms on the second floor is nearly completed, and they look a hundred per cent more attractive, even without the furnishings that are coming later. The floors remain to be varnished and waxed first. All this has entailed quite some expense, but the members of St. Ann's are always resourceful. Some wise heads noticed that a good many of the deaf, having a holiday on Election Day, usually come to the church in the evening for a social hour. "So there will be an organized 'Evening of Fun,' at which a slight admission fee will be charged, in the hope that a neat little roll will be realized. Everybody welcome, of course. The committee in charge is made up of the sprightly Agnes Craig, soulful Connie Pizzatos and vivacious Jessie Garrick, ably assisted by smiling Edward Carr, serene W. Renner and the famous William Gladstone Jones.

After the meeting ended, Rev. Kent, the Vicar, announced the passing of the Rev. J. H. Cloud, of St. Louis, and paid a glowing tribute to his work as a minister, educator and champion of the deaf.

A surprise birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Glynn, in honor of Mr. Martin L. Glynn, on October 17th, with a large group of friends—about forty-five. They had a very enjoyable afternoon and evening. The supper was served by the hostess, Mrs. Martin L. Glynn and her daughter Grace. The elderly people left early, and the young folks remained for games and dancing till midnight.

Benjamin Wolf is walking by the aid of a cane.

Benjamin, ever since the firm of Wolf Bros. went out of business about a year ago, has been working for Martens Company, Men's Furnishings, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

On Saturday, October 16th, in attempting to lift a large plate glass single-handed, he came to grief.

It was far heavier than he thought, or is it that the strength of the mighty one is waning.

It fell from his grasp, and struck him on one of his feet. The glass was broken to fragments, and Benjamin groaned in pain.

An x-ray of the injured foot was taken, and revealed a fractured bone, which will take about four weeks to mend.

Benjamin is a member of the Frats and the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, and will receive relief from both organizations, and, besides, will receive half pay from his employer.

But Benjamin is not happy, having to walk around by the aid of a cane and count the hours, day by day, doing nothing, which is not to his liking.

Mrs. Charles Schatzkin, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Julius Scandel, had quite a thrilling motor trip to Minnesota from New York. They saw the damage to homes and property by the great cloudbursts in Illinois. Detours were necessary to get across rivers, where bridges had been washed away by floods. They called on Principal Stevenson at Faribault, Minn., and drove around a few of Minnesota's thousand lakes. Mrs. Schatzkin proved to be a wonderful and fearless driver. They are now home-ward bound.

Arthur Mueller, the youngest brother of Henry and Charles Mueller, who during the World War was taken prisoner by the Germans, and since coming back to New York, joined the aviation force at Mitchell Field, recently met with an accident, the plane in which he was crashed to the ground, with the result that he just narrowly escaped death.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Florence Wetmore, of Quincy, Mass., to Mr. Waldo Ries, of New York City. Both are graduates of the Clarke School, at Northampton, Mass. Mr. Ries is connected with the B. C. Forbes Publishing Co., in the circulating manager's office.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Goldwasser wish to announce the engagement of their charming daughter, Freda, to Mr. Harry Grossinger, Jr., on October 20th. Freda graduated from Public School 47 for the Deaf, and is a very brilliant and lovely girl. Harry is a loyal graduate of 67th Street School, and a very well known young deaf gentleman.

A memorial in honor of Abraham Solomon was unveiled at the Neboh Cemetery last Sunday, October 24th, in the presence of the immediate family and a large number of friends. The deaf present were Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman H. Metzger, and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kenner.

Last week Isidore Mirbach took a trip to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and enjoyed himself immensely. In Philadelphia, he did the Sesqui-Centennial Exhibition; in Baltimore, he enjoyed the ponies run, and in Washington, he just saw the National Capitol, and says it is grand!

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brandenstein spent their honeymoon in Washington, D. C. They are now back in the city.

FANWOOD.

On Tuesday afternoon, October 19th, a very impressive funeral service, conducted by Rev. John H. Kent, Curate of St. Ann's Church for the Deaf, was held in the Chapel of the Institution for Margaret I. Raymer, who came here as a pupil in November, 1924, and who passed away on Saturday night, the 16th, from an acute attack of meningitis, at the age of 12 years. The entire school above the Third Grade was in attendance.

Several beautiful floral pieces were sent for Margaret by the Institution authorities, teachers and her friends at the school.

The interment was in the Institution plot at Trinity Church Cemetery.

Margaret's original home was in Macedon, Wayne County, N. Y. The Children's Aid Society of New York became interested in her, and she was sent by them to the Good-hue Home, Sailors Snug Harbor, New Brighton, S. I., before coming to us, on account of the loss of her hearing.

From the time of her arrival at school, Margaret was greatly beloved, both because of her sweet disposition and because she had no parents, Miss Carroll, our Art Director, was especially interested in Margaret, and contributes the following lines in her memory:

Hush, little Leaves,
Don't frolic so wild,
For beneath your cool shadows
Rests a fair sleeping child.
When the gales of November
Commands you to fall
From the low drooping bush,
From the oaks broad and tall,
Drop gently, I pray you,
And wave in pure gold
With crimson and purple
Fold upon fold,
A mantle of Autumn
To cover her bed,
Embroidered with Love,
Threaded upon thread.
And you, little Stars,
Far up in the sky,
Shine brighter to-night,
A soul passes by,
A new star soon
Will gleam in blue
And shine all night
The same as you do.
You will love that star—
And, after a while,
You will know it is Margaret,
With her sweet little smile.

Thursday, 14th inst., was the opening game for Barrager A. A.'s basketball tournament. Principal I. B. Gardner was among the spectators and "he tossed up the ball. The game was played between "Lucille" and "Flora." "Lucille," under the captaincy of Miss Lucille Tichenor, was beaten by "Flora," under the captaincy of Miss Flora Christoffer, by the close score of 5 to 2. Another game was played by the Fanwood A. A. juniors, between the Leviathan and Majestic teams. The Leviathan team won—13 to 7.

The Fanwood Literary Association, program was given in the chapel last Thursday by the High Class, taught by Dr. F. Fox.

The program, which interested the pupils, was as follows:—

AFTER ANDERSONVILLE.

In the prison at Andersonville sat a young soldier from the prairies, and thought of the farm and the waving corn. Every row of the forty-acre field came back to him, and the labor of plowing with the one horse and the double-shovel plow seemed not so laborious as when he had been required to do it. If he could only get away from here he would plow corn and not complain.

Yet even with such thoughts as these the work seemed needlessly laborious. Must people continue to plow corn on the prairies as their fathers had plowed Massachusetts or New Jersey? He had asked himself this question many times when he had been at home, and his back had ached with the work. But on the farm there had been so many tasks and so little time, either for rest or thought, that he had never turned his query into practical channels. Here, however, it was different. He had nothing to do but think.

Addicted to the Yankee habit of whittling, he set to work with his pocket-knife, and in time evolved the model for the sulky corn-plow.

After the war he and his brother, also a Union soldier, began the manufacture of an implement which may be said to have revolutionized the culture of corn in tracts of large area. They built up a prosperous business.

Both brothers died recently, after having served their generation well in helping to make two stalks of corn to grow where formerly there was one.

If this were the whole story it would be worth telling, for it would be a story of industry, the inventive genius, and of success achieved under difficulties such as make success commendable. But it is not the whole story. These two boys were sons of a godly pioneer, who brought from the East all the devotion of an earnest ancestry and a large and generous nature. To him and those who accompanied him the migration meant not merely a new home, but a church, a Christian college, and a community consecrated to education; industry and the work of the Lord.

To these ideals of the parents the young men were true, and the means they acquired enabled them to promote those ends in larger ways than the father and dreamed of.

The funeral of the second brother was held only a few weeks ago in the little city where he had lived. The pastor and former pastors of the church sat in the pulpit with the president of the college. The trustees of the college, the directors of the state home missionary society, and other bodies of which he was a member were present, and a special train brought three hundred and fifty of his employees to the funeral.

This might have been a merely formal tribute to the man with whom so many people stood in close personal and official relation; but these were not all. The auditorium of the great church filled, and the connecting rooms were opened till they, too, overflowed, and still the people gathered, until the square on which the church fronted seemed full of people unable to get in.

And when the multitude passed by the coffin, one after another, looking down at the calm, kind face, and the Grand Army button, with one empty sleeve below it, there were hundreds who dropped a tear of personal sorrow and of gratitude.

"If a wholly spontaneous popular tribute means anything," said one who was present, "that was a good and a great man."

He had done far more than to increase the world's acreage of corn; he had enlarged by the measure of one full life the area on earth consecrated to God and the growing good of the world.—Youth's Companion.
