TORONTO TIDINGS

Charles A. Elliott was the speaker at our church on August 19th, and unfolded an interesting sermon on why Christ wants all to come unto Him. Mrs. F. E. Doyle gave the usual hymn. Misses Sarah McGillivray and Ella Nahaffie, of Kansas City, Mo., were guests of the former's cousins at "Mora Glen" on August 19th and 20th. They were on a motor trip covering over 3000 miles.

After a week's visit to relatives and friends here, Mr. Jack Crossen left on August 12th, for a further visit to relatives in Galt, Kitchener and vicinity, before leaving for his home in St. Louis, Mo., via Niagara Falls and Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell came up from Oshawa on August 17th, and visited relatives here until the 20th. Mr. Bell is only putting in three or four days a week at the Canada Motors Co., owing to slack times.

Harry E. Grooms spent the weekend of August 18th, with his family at Oshawa, and in the meantime visited Hampton and took in a big picnic at Kedron, reporting lots of fun.

Mr. William C. Pearce, Mrs. Hugo Johnson, Mrs. Martha Michaelson and the last mentioned one's little daughter, all of Chicago, were interested and welcome visitors to our midst over the week-end of August 18th. They took great interest in our church, of which they had read much about in the JOURNAL. We regret their stay was so brief, yet we were delighted to meet them. They were on an automobile tour and left for Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Cleveland enroute for home, having come down via Detroit and Port Huron.

Miss Walla Wright, the eldest and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wright, of Bobcaygeon, who works in this city, was out to her parental home for a few weeks lately, recuperating from her recent operation, when she had her tonsils removed on August 13th. Pleased to say Walla is improving very fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Colclough and family and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker and family went out to the country on August 19th for a long auto ride and called on the Jones and Zimmerman families in Palgrave before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pearson and sons, Raymond and Wilbur, of Methuen, Mass., were guests at "Mora Glen" on August 21st. Jim and your writer were school pals long ago, when they attended the public schools before the latter went to the Belleville school to finish his education.

Mrs. J. H. Mason was in from Oakville on August 19th and reports that Mrs. R. M. Thomas is steadily improving.

CONVENTION COMMENT

Tuesday, July 3d was "Excursion Day" at our convention, and from morning till night all were "absent on leave" from the scorching heat of this city—what a comfort was the change. After sweltering in the heat for the past three days, the delegates found solace on the cooling waves of the deep. The great majority departed on the 7:45 A.M. boat—the Cayuga—the finest and most palatial greyhound of the Canada Steamship lines. What a merry crowd were they, as this fast going ship ploughed its way through the tempest, bound for the world's most wonderful sights, the majority on board had never seen before. Arriving at Queenstown at 10:15, they found fast electric cars waiting to take them on a winding trip up the mountain crest to the plains, where the immortal Sir Isaac Brock now reposes in peace, underneath a monument that stands majestically above the surrounding country to a height of 185 feet and can be seen hundreds of miles beyond. Continuing their journey, they pass the greatest engineering feat that man ever conceived—the great Hydro Electrical plant that distributes electric juice for lighting and power to points a thousand miles away. Moving along, they traverse on the very brink of a precipice into whose chasm a plunge would mean eternity to any soul. Arriving at the brink of the Falls, the majority could be seen awing in wonder at such a natural freak as was presented before their eyes. This great waterfall, over which millions of tons of water thunder every minute and has been discharging same for countless ages past, was a picture that they will never forget. It was simply inspiring and appealing. After enjoying a free noonday lunch provided by the local entertainment committee, the jolly, care-free excursionists spent the rest of the day exploring haunts of interest and romance as suited their fancy.

EXCURSION ECHOES

Those who did not care to rise so early went over the lake on the "Corona" at 9:15 and on the "Chippewa" at 11:15 A.M.

The scorching heat was telling on many, but this would have been still worse but for the cooling mist that continually animated from the surging water, as it plunged over this mighty cataract and sent its sprays into the air.

The cafeteria, where we partook of our noonday lunch, was not sufficiently large enough to cope with the sweltering crowd that clamored for admission for nearly two hours. However, such a case is bound to happen when the "Fort is suddenly stormed," yet, despite this drawback, the throng behaved in good humor and the discomforting clouds soon rolled by.

A little bunch of foolish boys and girls stole away from the rest and made off for Buffalo, where they overstayed their visit, and when they returned to the Falls they found all their friends had gone and the last boat for the night far out on the billows homeward bound. Being stranded in a strange place far, after midnight they were in a sore dilemma. At last they got a conveyance and arrived home in the dawning hours of the morning, minus a night's peaceful sleep and a good portion of their bank roll. Theirs was a day of woe.

SARNIA SAYINGS

On Sunday, August 19th, while Mr. and Mrs. Jontie Henderson were out to the cemetery decorating the grave of their beloved son, Gordon, they were surprised to come across Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie, of Dresden, Miss Alice Leckie, of Detroit, and Mr. Miller, of Pontiac, who came in to see the graves of the late Mrs. Leckie and Miss Alma Leckie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gould, Jr., and Mr. George Moore, of London, motored up and spent August 19th with the parents of Miss Alice Leckie, and called on the Hendersons in the meantime.

Mrs. Jontie Henderson was glad to have her mother, Mrs. Leach, and her sister, Mrs. Flora Newson, home again, having come up from Hamilton on the steamboat special on August 21st. Mrs. Newson is on a visit here for a few weeks.

Mr. Jontie Henderson has no idle time now, for he is now toiling along daily at the Goodison Thresher works from seven in the morning until six in the evening. This company has made and sold over 375 machines so far this summer, chiefly for the Western Canada trade.

A very interesting meeting was held here on Sunday, August 19th, when Mr. Howard J. Lloyd, of Brantford, addressed the good-sized crowd present. His sermon was most persuasive and refreshing. Among the outsiders present we noticed Mr. and Mrs. William Wark and Miss Jean Wark, of Wyoming; Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie, of Dresden; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gould, Jr., and George Moore, of London; Miss Edith Squires, of Petrolia; Miss Alice Leckie, of Detroit, and Mr. Miller, of Pontiac, Mich.

BORDER BREEZES

Mr. Edward Ball has about completed the painting of the exterior of his beautiful residence on Glendale Avenue in Detroit and it now presents a natty appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. William Riberdy left on August 24th for St. Thomas, Ont., where they put up with Mr. and Mrs. George Munro, and left on the morrow for Niagara Falls and Buffalo, enroute for Mr. Riberdy's old home in Albany, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, of Royal Oak, invited a number of friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ball, to a chicken dinner at their cottage at Long Lake, Mich., on August 26th, and all had a delightful time.

Mrs. Cas. Sadows now looks a dozen years more youthful, since she paid a visit to a tonsorial parlor and emerged minus her flowing locks. Youth has its charms to those who smile.

The other day, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Riberdy, with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ball, went out for a long auto jaunt into nature's open spaces. First they struck for Royal Oak and gave Mr. and Mrs. John Berry a "Hello" smile, then ran over to Rochester and caught Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Brown napping in innocence. Continuing their spin they made for Lakeville Lake, then Oxford and finally Milford. On their return journey, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Brown returned their compliments with a well provisioned spread of the season's eats.

WATERLOO WEEK BITS

Mrs. Thomas Williams, of Kitchener, spent a recent week-end with the Moynihans, to recuperate from her recent operation. Her condition is favorably responding to treatment.

While over in Kitchener taking tea with Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moynihan were delighted to meet Mrs. Oliver Nahrang, of Haysville, who is looking very fine. They were also pleased to meet Mrs. Isaiah Nahrang, of Speedville, at the same time.

Mr. Frank E. Harris, of Toronto, was the speaker at the religious meeting in Kitchener on August 19th, and there was a splendid turnout. Mrs. Harris returned home with her husband that evening, after a week's sojourn with her parents and old friends.

Gladys, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Nahrang, of Kitchener, had her tonsils removed lately and is now doing very well. Little Hardy Williams is also doing fine and has had the plaster removed.

Mrs. William Hagen and children have returned to their home in Kitchener, after a lengthy holiday down in Hastings County.

PONTIAC, MICH., PUTOUTS

Mr. Scott, of Roseville, Mich., is the latest to join our silent colony. He has just secured a good position at the Fisher Motor Co., and at present is boarding with the Hardenbergs.

On August 19th Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Brown motored over from Rochester, Mich., and picking up the Hardenberg family went on for a drive around the many beautiful lakes that are dotted here and there. On their way they stopped at Mr. Brown's brother place for lunch. They had some great outing.

Mr. Frank Hardenberg is now working eleven hours every night at the Pontiac Motors, Ltd. He was forced out of the Oakland Motors Co., owing to this company moving to another locality, but Frank may be called to his old job ere long.

The Flint school reopens on September 10th and the parents of deaf children here are very busy getting things in shape for another long school term.

Mr. and Mrs. William Heck and daughter, Thelma, and their nephew, of Flint, motored over to the Hardenbergs on August 20th. Leaving Mrs. Heck here the others, along with Miss Eva Hardenberg, went down to see Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown in Detroit, with whom Miss Thelma Heck spent a three weeks' vacation.

WOODSTOCK WHISPERS

Mr. John Walton left on August 21st for Devere, Sask., to try and sell his farm, and visit his folks and friends. He expects to return in October or November.

Miss Iva Hughes was out visiting friends at Haysville lately and had a good time.

Mr. Mervin McMurray, of Thamesford, was in this city recently looking up old friends and bidding them goodbye, and also at Kitchener prior to his departure for the West.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, of London, passed through here the other Sunday, on their way to and from Hamilton. They stopped a few minutes to give Mr. Chas. A. Ryan a message from Howard Lloyd, of Brantford, but they found this world is very wide and Charlie was out motoring elsewhere.

On Saturday, August 18th, Mr. Howard J. Lloyd, of Brantford, motored up here, and picking up Charlie Ryan, continued on to London to attend the joint meetings of the picnic and mission committees, where arrangements were ironed out for the big Labor Day outing to Springbank Park. Mrs. John Fisher was chosen matron. Next day Mr. Lloyd motored to Sarnia for the meeting there.

Mr. Fred Terrell, of Toronto, passed through here on August 19th, enroute for London, where he held a very successful and encouraging Biblical meeting at the Y. M. C. A. He spoke on the various phrases and laws of "Obedience," that was much relished by the large crowd present. Before the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher took Messrs. Terrell and Ryan to see Mrs. James Goodbrand at the Ontario Hospital, whom they found doing well.

GENERAL GLEANINGS

Reports have it that Mr. Thomas D. Crozier, of Springvale, finds his injured knee yielding to treatment.

We are pleased to report the complete recovery of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lloyd, of Brantford. The little one had an attack of the measles lately.

Mrs. W. J. Beard, of Beeton, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones, in Palgrave, on August 20th.

Miss Sylvia Caswell, of Niagara Falls, was out in St. Catharines visiting her sister for several days lately.

Messrs. Meton McMurray, of Thamesford, Stanley Youngs, of London, and the latter's brother, Cyrus, of Ballieboro, left on August 21st to help garner in the harvest in the golden west.

With this letter go subscriptions for Mrs. Frank Hardenberg, of Pontiac, Mich., and Jontie Henderson, of Sarnia. The JOURNAL is bobbing up everywhere, very much appreciated.

BUFFALO

Anyone interested in the 1930 N. A. D. convention, and desiring information and free literature should write to A. L. Sedlowsky, Secretary Convention Committee, 80 Walnut Street, Buffalo, N. Y. News from outlying sections of Buffalo and Western New York intended for this column should be sent to same address.

Subscriptions to JOURNAL and renewals of subscriptions may be sent to Mr. A. L. Sedlowsky, who will forward same to the JOURNAL office.

Saturday, August 25th, was a red letter day, long to be emblazoned on the scroll of most successful events ever held in Buffalo, the occasion being the outing and field day held by the local committee of the N. A. D., at Schafer's Grove. Over 200 took advantage of the splendid weather to turn out, which is fortunate for them, as they got the time of their lives. Credit is due to Chairman Zink and his crops of able assistants. A lot of favorable comment has been made upon the value and quality of the prizes offered.

The games were run off as scheduled and appended are the results:— Little Boys' Race, 25 yards, won by Francis Hess. Prize, School Supplies. Little Girls' Race, 25 yards, won by Evelyn Smith. Prize, Pocket Book. 100-yard Dash for Men, won by Bernard Rata. Prize, Pair of Socks. Siamese Race (woman and man), won by Walter Clemen and Metha Kinn. Prizes—Cigarette Lighter and String of Beads. Coat Race (woman and man), won by Bernard Rata and Mrs. Haenszel. Prizes—Handkerchief and Toilet Set. The guessing contests resulted as follows:— Mantel Clock, Miss Metha Kinn. Boudoir Lamp, Sol D. Weil. Pair of Binoculars, Robert Hogan. Parker Fountain Pen, Edwin Lillay. Men's Wrist Watch, Gleason Erb. Woman's Wrist Watch, Ira Todd. Tortoise Studded Bracelet, Mr. W. E. Davis. Compact, Mrs. William Smith.

Miss Doris Myers, of Niagara Falls, leaves September 10th, to resume her position as teacher on the Faculty of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf, at Edgewood, Pa.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Staubit and children, of Corning, were noticed circulating at the picnic at Schafer's Grove, Saturday. They are former residents, and their friends are gratified to learn that Mr. Staubit has been promoted to the post as M. E. minister at Cincinnati, O., succeeding the Rev. Utten Reed. Sunday, he conducted largely attended services at the Baptist Church on North St., a sort of farewell service. All who know him, prophesy a large meed of success in his new field. What is Cincinnati's gain, is Buffalo's loss.

Mr. and Mrs. James Coughlin accompanied Mr. Joseph Landberg in his car to Erie, Pa., August 18th, staying for two days, going thence to Cambridge Springs, N. Y., to a large picnic held there, about 75 being in attendance. Mr. Coughlin spoke about the coming N. A. D. convention in Buffalo in 1930, and was loud in praise of his cordial reception.

Mr. William Klein got word this week of the serious auto accident befalling his son, Nathan, at Grand Island, Neb., mention of whose trip West was made in last week's issue.

Mrs. H. J. Bromwich (Carrie Ode), a former resident, but now of Uhrichville, O., is visiting relatives for three weeks.

Messrs. Gorenflo and Morin are leaving this week on a two-weeks' motor trip to Montreal, Can. They plan a 1,200 mile trip, returning by way of Malone and New York City, intending to take in the Malone and the Fanwood schools.

Mrs. David Newhouse has returned after a month's vacation, spent in Colorado and Michigan, spending the greater part of the time at Chicago with her sister, Mrs. Borinstein. She reports a great time in the wild and woolly west, and it's a safe bet that Mr. Newhouse is glad she's back, as his work at dish-washing was getting pretty monotonous.

Allan Dunham, the big butter and egg man (not a bad one, either), reports that his poultry plant at Arcade, narrowly escaped destruction when three large gas tanks nearly let go with a resultant loss of $30,000. Recently he was in town disposing of 200 cockerels.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Louis Seelbach, in latter's sister's car, motored to Youngstown, taking in the historic fort at that place, lately restored to approximately the condition it was during French occupation in 1760. It is one of the show places hereabouts and will be on the itinerary of the 1930 convention. It is easy of access, either by train or motor, through beautiful scenery, reminiscent of the glacial age, during which gigantic cactyclism, the famed Niagara escarpment was created.

Miss Agnes Palmgren is fortunate in securing a lucrative and desirable position in the executive office of the Remington-Rand Co., lately removed from New York City.

Miss Jessie Ramsay, of Rochester, and Miss Doris Myers, of Niagara Falls, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carl, of Kenmore. Miss Ramsay leaves next month to resume her duties at the Minnesota School for the Deaf at Faribault.

Miss Ellen Sullivan, of St. Mary's School on Main St., recently spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Norton, of Pine St.

Miss Mary N. Reily was a guest at tea with Mr. and Mrs. Sol D. Weil, at their cottage at Crystal Beach last week, later going to Hamburg to spend the day with Miss Hildegard Neblacker. Miss Reily was noted at the Schafer's Grove picnic, and was pleased to greet several of the girls who were her pupils at the St. Mary's school some years ago. It was a peculiarly happy reunion, and reminiscences were exchanged.

Miss Ira Ford, of Niagara Falls, and Miss Martha Wells, of Batavia, returned Saturday, from a week spent with Mrs. Carl Strail, of Syracuse. All reported a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. Felix Nowak and little boy will leave this week to spend ten days with her parents, motored to Kalamazoo, Mich., where she will be given a chance to colloquize on the lone bachelor life.

During July, Miss Persis Forter, with her parents, motored to Kalamazoo, Mich., reporting a much enjoyable time.

Mr. Altor Sedlowsky left for Toronto, Canada, Monday, incidentally taking in the fair, and as is his custom, will entertain eight little neighbor friends at the big exposition. Bear in mind the big Frat picnic at Baumler's Grove, at end of Genesee Street. Games of all kinds, also eats, the date draws nigh—September 2d. Come one and all.

The next N. A. D. event of local importance will be held at the Hotel Statler, Saturday night, October 20th. There will be an entertainment by Joseph Ledden, of Rochester, famed deaf magician. There will also be put on a program of dancing by the prettiest deaf girls of Buffalo and Rochester, and Rena Weil and other hearing daughters of deaf parents. As the petite Miss Charlotte Schwager is in charge, this affair promises to be another outstanding event. Paste this in your hat.

Mr. William Calkins, of North Tonawanda, who left a month ago on a vacation jaunt, has been heard from in Wisconsin, his native State, and was over to see his Alma Mater at Delavan. He is expected back by September 1st, when his place of employment, the Wurlitzer Co., opens up.

CHARLES N. SNYDER.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Conley and son, of Syracuse, who have been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, of Lockport, left for home Sunday. On Wednesday they motored over to Tonawanda and called on Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clemen, and at LaSalle, en route home they stopped in to see Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Ulrich and Miss Mabel Ford.

Down at Arcade, nestling 'mid the Vermont hills in New York State, dwells a sweet and kind lady, who, for the last few years, has been quietly and unostensibly at work at a loving task that is destined to afford posterity, especially those of the Rochester school, much benefit. The task is that of collecting all available photos, curios, data, etc., beginning in 1876, when the school was started by the late beloved Dr. Zenas Westervelt. It is due to a good Providence that many of the original pupils are still living, and they are contributing valuable photos to the collection being mounted in a large album, the whole eventually to consist of several volumes, properly numbered and catalogued. All this interesting work has been made possible by the generosity of Mrs. Edmund Lyon, widow of the late Edmund Lyon, inventor of the Lyon phonetic system, and benefactor of the Rochester School, who has commissioned Mrs. Sebra Wilson to do the work. She has an able assistant in Miss Rosa Halpen, a retired teacher.

It is possible that such a work will form the nucleus of a museum at the Rochester School, and all desiring to aid in this worthy project, are requested to forward anything of value to Mrs. Sabra Wilson, Arcade, N. Y. Saturday night, August 18th, fifty friends swooped down on the household of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder at Lockport, the occasion being Mr. Snyder's natal anniversary. It was a complete surprise and cleverly engineered by Mrs. Robert Conley, of Syracuse, their guest the past week. Various games were enjoyed, prizes going to Miss Doris Myers, Miss Catherine Lehman, William Haenszel and Mr. Snyder. Guests were from Syracuse, Rochester, Niagara Falls, the Tonawandas and Buffalo. After a bountiful lunch all left at a late hour.

This week-end Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Houze, of Syracuse, joined the Conleys at the Snyders at Lockport. Mr. Houze is from the Kansas school, while his wife is the former Louise Sadelmeyer, of Mt. Airy, the same school Mr. Snyder came from. All were at Gallaudet College at different times, and imagine the tales of college life regaled when good fellows get together. Mr. Houze is still considered the greatest backstop ever turned out at Gallaudet, while Mr. Conley is the famed South Atlantic wrestling champion.

Mr. Herbert Webber and Mr. Adolph Ulrich, of LaSalle, are both enjoying a much needed vacation, the former going to Olean, and the latter putting around his domicile. The latter is running a successful tailoring and dry cleaning establishment in connection with his regular employment.

The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Staubit, of Corning, a former resident, are much gratified to hear of his selection as Rev. Utten Reed's successor in the M. E. middle west field. The promotion is deservedly popular, and the deaf of that area are to be congratulated, and a brilliant future is assured for Mr. Staubit.

CASEY AT THE BAT

A Ballad Sung in the Year 1888.

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the Mudville nine that day;
The score stood four to two with but an inning more to play;
And then when Cooney died at first and Barrows did the same,
A sickly silence fell upon the patrons of the game.

A straggling few got up to go, in deep despair;
The crowd drew back with shouts and cries and prayers
Clung to that hope which springs eternal in the human breast;
They thought if only Casey could get a whack at that—
We'd put up even money now with Casey at the bat.

But Flynn preceded Casey, as did also Jimmy Blake,
And the former was a lulu and the latter was a cake;
So upon that stricken multitude grim melancholy sat,
For there seemed but little chance of Casey's getting to the bat.

But Flynn let drive a single, to the wonderment of all,
And Blake, the dust despised, tore the cover off the ball,
And when the dust had lifted and men saw what had occurred,
There 's Jimmy safe at second, and Flynn a-buzzing third.

Then from 5,000 throats and more there rose a lusty yell;
It rumbled through the valley, it rattled in the dell;
It knocked upon the mountains, it recoiled upon the flat,
For Casey, mighty Casey, was advancing to the bat.

There was ease in Casey's manner as he stepped into his place,
There was pride in Casey's bearing, and a smile on Casey's face;
And when, responding to their cheers, he lightly doffed his hat,
No stranger in the crowd could doubt 'twas Casey at the bat.

Ten thousand eyes were on him as he rubbed his hands with dirt;
Five thousand tongues applauded when he wiped them on his shirt;
Then while the writhing pitcher ground the ball into his hip,
Defiance gleamed in Casey's eye, a sneer curled Casey's lip.

And now the leather-covered sphere came hurtling through the air,
And Casey stood a-watching it in haughty grandeur there;
Close by the sturdy batsman the ball unheeded sped—
"That ain't my style," said Casey. "Strike one!" the umpire said.

From the benches, black with people, there went up a muffled roar,
Like the beating of the storm-waves on a stern and distant shore,
"Kill him! Kill the umpire!" shouted some on the stand;
And it's likely they'd have killed him had not Casey raised his hand.

With a smile of Christian charity great Casey's visage shone;
He stilled the rising tumult; he bade the game go on;
He signaled to the pitcher, and once more the spheroidal flew;
But Casey still ignored it, and the umpire said: "Strike two!"

"Fraud!" cried the maddened thousands and echo answered fraud;
But one scornful look from Casey and the multitude was awed;
They saw his muscles strain and they saw his muscles strain,
And they knew that Casey wouldn't let that ball go by again.

The sneer is gone from Casey's lip, his teeth are clenched in hate;
He pounds with cruel violence his bat upon the plate;
And now the pitcher holds the ball, and now he lets it go,
And now the air is shattered by the force of Casey's blow.

Oh, somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright;
The band is playing somewhere, and somewhere hearts are light,
And somewhere men are laughing, and somewhere children shout;
But there is no joy in Mudville—mighty Casey has struck out—Phin!

A FEW weeks ago, there was printed in the column a warning about stunt flying in airplanes by the deaf, who hoped to have that important sense developed and eventually made good, so that conversation, music, and other sounds could be heard and enjoyed. The parents, especially the mothers, were deluded into the belief that their darlings could be "cured."

We have already told of the utter futility of several attempts to gain hearing by flying. From different sections come reports of children being taken into high altitudes, but there is no authentic report of any benefit to their deafness. Invariably the children or adults say that they "can hear better." The confusion at landing, the relief from the vibrations made by the roaring propeller or engine, disturbs their mental equilibrium and causes them to make statements that they would not make a few hours later.

As before stated, a reputable physician is the best and surest source of relief—if relief can be obtained.

The following, which appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune, ought to influence the action of fond parents:—

ASSAIL AIRPLANE CURE FOR DEAF

Whether or not stunting in airplane will restore the hearing of deaf persons the Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in greater New York insist that boys and girls should not be subjected to such experiences. Colonel Ernest K. Coulter, general manager of the society in Manhattan, said yesterday that any children who had been forced to submit to terrifying airplane rides would be protected by one of the societies.

Charles F. Golnick, Superintendent of the Nassau County society, visited Curtis Field in the morning for a conference with M. M. Merrill, manager of the field. Mr. Merrill said he had received many requests from parents seeking airplane rides for deaf children, but that he had refused them because there was no hope for such a cure.

Moreover, the Department of Commerce regulations governing civilian flying prohibit stunting with passengers, Mr. Merrill added. He has called the attention of his pilots to this restriction and has warned them against a violation.

The children's societies have received many protests against the "deaf cures" by letters and telephones and personal calls, Colonel Coulter said. They have promised to investigate every such case and warn parents that they were violating the law.

One of these children is Evelyn Kish, nine years old. Her father, Julius Kish, of 401 East Sixty-eighth Street, arranged for her to be taken up at Roosevelt Field by Charles Parkhurst, of the Roosevelt Field Flying Service, and said he noted improvement that would warrant further trials. This family is not in town, Colonel Coulter said, but the parents will be interviewed when they return.

Julius Schaeffer, ten-year-old mute, who was given the shock treatment in an airplane, was examined Tuesday in the office of the Brooklyn Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Although the physician's report had not been received, Charles Better, acting superintendent, said he doubted whether much improvement in the lad's speech would be found. In any event the mother, Mrs. William Schaeffer, of 174 Taylor Street, Brooklyn, promised to discontinue the treatment since Julius had been frightened by it.

In most cases, Mr. Better said, it is sufficient to explain to parents the effect upon a child's mind of diving and tail-spinning in a plane. If they should insist upon continuing the practice, however, legal action might be taken under the statute which makes it a misdemeanor to inflict cruel and inhuman treatment upon children.

It is announced in La Gazette des Sourds-Muets that Mr. Henri Genis, of Paris, France, is dead at the ripe age of ninety-three years. He will be remembered as one of the European deaf-mutes present at the World's Fair in Chicago. The others of national prominence were Emil Mercier, of Epernay, Marne, France; and Mr. Watzulik, of Saxony. All of these men, who visited the United States in that far day have passed away. Mr. Genis was quite an intellectual man and popular among his deaf associates. He was quite an alert and observing individual and the estimates of the deaf of America, their progress and accomplishments, that he carried home and regaled his compatriots with, were both flattering and unique.

At ninety years, Elizabeth Chamberlain, is still in good health. She is the widow of Rev. John Chamberlain, who was for so many years associated with Rev. Thomas Gallaudet at St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes. Mrs. Chamberlain lives in Boston, Mass., at 39 Clearway Street, and still paints most excellently in oils and water color. She was born for the brush and palette, and her artistic education was obtained abroad, when she was a young lady. Her many friends among the deaf of New York will be rejoiced at her splendid physical and mental condition and wish her god-speed toward the century mark.

Columbia Offers Special Course In Lip-Reading

A special course announced by Teachers College, Columbia University, for eachers of lip-reading to hard-of-hearing children, will be given this fall in co-operation with the New York League for the Hard of Hearing. It comes as a result of educational studies carried on at the league's social center during the last few years.

This group of handicapped people, engaged in the study and solution of their own problems, has attracted the active assistance of prominent specialists in medicine, education and social service since its foundation by Edward B. Nitchie in 1910. The league's headquarters contains an auditorium equipped with hearing amplifiers of the kind used in churches, a specially adapted radio, phonograph and player-piano for the entertainment of its members. By arrangement with the Department of Evening Schools, a Lip-Reading Annex to Public Evening School No. 27 is held during the school year. Annual championship contests are conducted among the evening school classes in lip-reading, the present metropolitan champion, Miss Evelyn Parry, having been the runner-up in the national lip-reading tournament of the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing at St. Louis last June.

Other activities of the league freely open to persons who once heard well, but whose hearing has become deficient, are a well developed employment bureau which solves many perplexing vocational problems and an exhibit of the latest mechanical aids to hearing to which ear specialists send their patients for information and comparison.

Perhaps the league's most definite service to New York City—according to its president, Dr. Wendell C. Phillips, past president of the American Medical Association—lives in its interest in progressive deafness among children of school age. School surveys of recent years have estimated conservatively that 130,000 New York school children have hearing defects which will seriously retard them educationally and inflict upon them many economic disadvantages and losses unless special instruction be given. Therefore the league has established medical and educational clinics for the benefit of the numerous school children brought to its attention.

The findings are that school children, in the early stages of progressive deafness, when given instruction in lip-reading, can hold their own in competition with normally hearing children, making their grades and going through high school with no outward sign of any handicap. This points to a comparatively simple solution of a big problem in school administration. School surveys conducted throughout the United States and in Montreal reveal the same situation, to which Teachers College is responding with the course planned for this fall in its Department of Health education.—N. Y. Herald-Tribune.

The Deaf-Mutes' Union League has purchased a piano. This will come handy later when the league holds socials. Most of the young set love to dance, and there must be music—yes, dance music. The deaf do not hear the strains of music, but they feel it, and many are able to keep step to it.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH SCHOOLS FOR THE DEAF?

THE DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL made an announcement recently that Mr. George Porter had been forced to retire from the position of teacher of printing in the New Jersey School for the Deaf as well as from the sanctuary of the Silent Worker, and that Mr. F. A. Moore had been transferred from the Literary Department to the Physical Department.

According to the JOURNAL another deaf teacher has been dropped, and within a year there will be no deaf teacher at the New Jersey School. This means that the school will be among the "purely oral."

Thousands of the deaf in the country, doubtless, will regret deeply and condemn the action of the New Jersey School. That Mr. Porter is physically and mentally capable of continuing in his responsible position is without question. Thousands of readers of the Silent Worker will miss his interesting writings. How that popular and widely read magazine will be managed by a hearing newspaper man of Newark, N. J., remains to be seen. A paper published at a school for the deaf is different from a regular newspaper, and can not be conducted along exactly the same lines.

Last century in the schools for the deaf there were many deaf teachers well endowed intellectually and well equipped for the work, but since the introduction of the oral method the deaf teachers have been dropped to give their places to the "more progressive" teachers. The low salaries offered have caused many of the deaf teachers to give up the profession. There is quite a demand for oral teachers, because of the increase in the use of the oral method. There is a very decided tendency on the part of the schools to employ female hearing teachers.

Regardless of the true interest of the pupils in their charge, the superintendents of the schools employ incompetent and untrained hearing teachers, and the only remedy is to have good deaf teachers.

In fact, nothing so retards the progress and efficiency of a school as incompetent and untrained teachers who have no real understanding of a deaf child's mental condition. It is a great mistake to suppose that a class of little children can be placed in the hands of a mere novice without serious damage to the children.

The superintendents of the schools for the deaf employ public school teachers who have had no experience with the deaf. A teacher without experience may succeed in a school for the hearing, but that is different from the work of the teacher of the deaf. It is a great mistake to believe that because a deaf child knows so little, a teacher with very limited knowledge and training can teach him. Teaching the deaf is a special line of work. Upon the teacher devolves every phase of the deaf child's education. His physical, mental, moral and spiritual training depends upon his teacher for development.

It is impossible to get results in the classroom without efficient teachers.

The superintendents of our schools give the oral teachers more credit for their work than the manual teachers. They do not appreciate the deaf teachers' heroic labor in the uplift of the deaf and their extra duties. The deaf teachers perform their work with great enthusiasm and give their pupils great encouragement. They are quick to observe any disadvantage suffered by the pupils and to resent any tendency toward official callousness or neglect. Besides their school duties, they take an active interest in the religious and social life of the pupils, as well as in their outdoor and indoor games and sports. It stands to reason—it is natural—that there is sympathy and understanding between the pupils and the deaf teachers, hence rapid progress of the pupils.

There are hearing teachers who, after finishing their work in the afternoon, have no further interest in the doings of the school until their regular duty calls them back to their work again.

I am not saying that the educated deaf are better teachers than the hearing. There are many good hearing teachers, and neither good deaf teachers nor good hearing teachers should be dropped except for sufficient reason.

The schools for the deaf having to their credit the greater number of successful students admitted to Gallaudet College are the schools employing a proportionate by large number of deaf teachers, and the very ordinary schools are to be found among those that have eliminated the deaf teachers, or are being conducted with such an elimination in view.

There is an overwhelming sentiment among the deaf everywhere throughout the world in favor of an increase in the number of deaf teachers. There is ample justification for the cry for proper methods, better vocational training, more practical work and better teachers in our schools.

ROBERT C. MILLER.

SEATTLE

In appreciation of his faithful work as pastor of the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer, members and friends of Rev. George W. Gaertner, at a gathering in the church hall last Thursday, presented the young minister with a purse of thirty-five dollars. The hall was almost too small to hold the crowd, which listened to a nice program in his honor. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid.

The sixth anniversary of the building of the Church of Our Redeemer was observed Sunday, August 12th, with a fine sermon, "God Knows His People," by Rev. Gaertner. Mrs. W. S. Root and Mrs. Claude Ziegler signed a song together. Among the beautiful flowers on the platform was a bunch of wonderful lavender dahlias from the Roots' yard. At six o'clock a hot lunch was served by the Ladies' Aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bertram and son, John, motored 60 miles to Ben Bow Lake, and took in the big picnic of the Engraver's two weeks ago. John, the 14 year old lad, drove half the way.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riley and eight year old daughter, Kathleen, arrived in Seattle, August 9th, for a three-week vacation. At the P. S. A. D. meeting, Mr. Riley gave a very good talk in regard to the debate about Hoover and Smith and the dry law, in his humorous way. He remarked that Jack Bertram, the president of the club, managed everything splendidly and easily.

Lawrence Belser's mother came here and took him home to Wenatchee last week to recuperate on a friend's farm. It is believed that he is out of danger now. The young and capable Mrs. Belser, an artist, has steady employment, and is able to look after her two little children.

Mr. and Mrs. True Partridge and three children camped at Madrona Beach on Camano Island a little while ago. They said the improvements have been great since the Garrisons invited them and several others a few years ago, before cabin camps came into use for the benefit of motor tourists.

Before Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Jacobs, of Oakland, and two sons finished their visit in Seattle, they were the honor guests of a party given by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wright at their home. Mr. Jacobs is a mototype operator for a large job office in San Francisco.

Mrs. Jack Bertram went to Vancouver on August 8th, to join Mrs. L. A. Divine's auto party to Lake Crater in Oregon. She has returned home after ten days of outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Riley left a few days ago by auto-bus for Portland to visit their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wondrache accompanied by Fred Wondrache, arrived in Seattle two weeks ago, having toured all the way from Cincinnati, Ohio, in a trusty Ford. They said some of the so-called National highways in the middle west were in a terrible condition, and it was a relief to get onto the paved and oiled highways of Washington and Oregon.

They are visiting a sister of Mrs. Wondrache in Ballard. They intend to return east by way of California and the Southern States, but they declared the Puget Sound country was so attractive, they hoped to return.

In their honor Mr. and Mrs. John Bodley gave a nice party on the 18th. The same night, another party took place, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brown, for Miss Ethel Morton.

The beloved sister of Mrs. Barbara Wildfang passed away August 15th, after being sick in bed over two years. Mrs. Emily Eaton has lived with them for several years, and found Mrs. Sullivan, the deceased, an affectionate and sincere friend. Rev. Gaertner took care of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. George Raison's invalid mother died four days ago in Bellingham. Mrs. Raison was with her when the end came.

Last week C. K. McConnell received a telegram from Iowa of the death of his aged mother. We extend our sympathy to all the sorrowing relatives.

Miss Marion Finch, the girls' supervisor in the Oregon School for a good number of years, spent her vacation with one of her sisters in Aberdeen, South Dakota. She was a week guest of Supt. and Mrs. Tillinghast at the institution in Sioux Falls. On her way back west, she will stop in Seattle to visit her friends. She is always welcome wherever she goes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Haire were at a loss without their Chevrolet for four days, when it was found near a dance hall in Firland last week. After wandering around at the Moose carnival Saturday night, they found their new car, purchased last year, gone. The police recovered it. They now realize the great convenience a machine is to any one.

Frank Kelly had the great pleasure of visiting his mother in Port Angeles recently. He rode in Christian Christensen's Willys Knight sport car both ways.

Marion, the Bertrams' daughter, spent two delightful weeks on Hood's Canal, with a bunch of girls and a supervisor, while John, her brother, camped with the Boy Scouts somewhere in the mountains.

Alberta, the oldest daughter of the Wrights, who has been the ad-artist for Livingston the past three years, left with a friend for several weeks' stay in San Francisco. Vivian and Grace, the two other girls, are spending a couple weeks at one of the numerous resorts on Hood's Canal.

PUGET SOUND.

Aug. 21, 1928.

OHIO

We are still taking the north-eastern Ohio breezes and the open country; but today realized that, ere long we'd be back in the four walls of the school room, as we received the official notice from Dr. Jones that school opens September 12th, this year, and that is not very far away.

Mr. W. L. Raymond, the resident of the Ohio Home, whom we mentioned in our last as being in a serious condition, died August 14th, and was laid to rest beside his wife in the Home lot in the Blendon cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by lay-reader J. B. Showalter, August 16th, and on the casket was a spray of lovely flowers from the Piqua Aid Society that had been taken to the Home by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Shonkowski and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Marshall, of Piqua. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond both entered the Home from Piqua.

Just after Mr. Raymond's death a new inmate came to the Home from Canton Mrs. Anna Stansberg, a schoolmate of Mrs. Pratt, another resident.

All the residents of the Home were treated to delicious watermelon by Mr. and Mrs. Barth, brother-in-law and sister of Supt. Chapman, who were spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Chapman. Mr. Barth is principal of the Elyria High School, and has been taking a special summer course in Columbus.

Mr. John C. Winemiller has again answered the call to the country, and is on his uncle's farm at Wapakoneta, where he will remain till duty calls him to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Ohio Home, August 31st.

Mrs. Winemiller had as her guest for a few days, Mrs. Alvin Kutzler, who made a stop-over on her way to relatives in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. August Beckert left August 16th, for Trenton, Michigan, to join Mrs. Beckert and freshen up before the opening of school.

Mrs. Clarence Charles is resting at her summer cottage near Flint, Mich., for a few weeks.

We learned through Miss Cloa Lamson that the Dayton deaf have gone over the top in the E. M. G. fund, and she expects to turn over about $200 more from Ohio to Mr. Drake. While not growing by leaps and bounds, Ohio is nearing the quota.

Mr. John Fryfogle has returned to Columbus, after having a three week's visit in his home town at North Georgetown.

Mr. William Kurtz has kept his whereabouts a secret, but in some place, he is enjoying his first vacation in three years.

Mrs. Glada Whitaker, the young widow of the late Marion Whitaker, of Toledo, has named her little daughter, born a few months after her husband's death, Charlotte Lois, and is happy that the little one resembles her father.

Visitors to the State Convention, N. F. S. D., will find the Ohio State Fair in full swing, but we suspect the ox roast at the Home will be more attractive to them.

We were glad to know that Mr. Bernie Wright has been credited as having done fine work, where he has been training before taking up his new position as coach at the Michigan School, next month. We wish him much success.

Dr. J. W. Jones, as a layman of his church, was again called upon to fill the pulpit a few Sundays ago. He took for his theme, "Why Atheism and kindred states of mind never have and never will be dominant in the lives of men." The following day the Columbus dailies spoke highly of his talk, and quoted some of his remarks.

Mrs. Ella Zell and Mr. Ernest Zell have returned from their Alaskan trip and had the time of their lives. Miss Ethelburga Zell remained at Vancouver as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Divine.

Mrs. J. C. Winemiller, with her daughter, Dorothy, and son, William, are with her brother's family camping at a resort near Cleveland.

Mr. Elmer Eley is at Grant Hospital for observation, and his friends are hoping he will not have to undergo an operation.

Mrs. Herman Cook and daughter, Anna, are in Pittsburgh, Pa., the guests of Miss Enna Boyd. Next week, Mr. Cook and son will motor over to Pennsylvania to attend a family reunion and all will return together.

Prof. H. Drake and family, of Washington, are at his old home in Piqua. From there they go to Nashville, Tenn., to be the guests of Mr. Marr and do his level best to raise the E. M. G. fund there.

Central California

An Arkansan, boasting he is known as One-eye Dummy, and Harmon, of Oklahoma, footed it out of Los Angeles. They bedded on earth near a roadside center. A burglary has been committed. A sheriff took them in on suspicion, but released them after a day and a night. They hitchhiked into Fresno, and after a few days were seen hoofing it near Merced toward San Francisco.

Joe Murphy, a real Celt, has been working at Wilson's Confectionery, Fresno, doing interior decoration. His work will soon be done, and then he will be back to cool off in San Francisco.

Lafayette C. Sherman and family are back in Los Angeles. He found an old Ford, took off the body and made a trailer, 10x6x4, on which the entire household outfit was loaded. Tires and wire paid for in spare equipment from the old Ford, with an outlay in cash of about $1.00. The trailer will make an ideal movable camping house.

Abe Sherman and family went to Santa Cruz for the annual two weeks' vacation.

Joe Yeghoian has been driving his 1928 Chevrolet coupe. This fact is news, for he is saving as a habit. The huge left-over surplus of raisins from last year's crop will compel growers to pick only part of the present crop. The real solution is to ship and sell only produce of quality, converting all below quality into juice, essence, flavor, filling or into by-products. Alcohol could be made profitably for use as motor fuel, which with higher compression on engines will give as much mileage and power as gasoline, with no carbon deposit.

Labor will be a drug on the market. Unskilled labor finds too much competition, with wages constantly going down. Skilled labor finds a solution in the five-day week with six hours per day.

We all hope the Box bill will pass at the next session of Congress. It aims to exclude Mexican labor. The influx this year threatens to bury us in this valley under peon labor. The tourist rush has been great. The hobo now travels in a car and takes any job which pays for going expenses.

The packing plants are slow to open this year. This valley needs factories to use up culls and waste of farm, garden or orchard. They would keep open after the regular packing season is over, through winter into spring and possibly into the next fruit season. Labor demand here is seasonal only.

Berry and Amelia Hancock have been looking after the ranch of Abe Sherman. It is only one acre in size, but the nannies and kids (the nannies, not Abe's) have to do mountain climbing. The alfalfa, garden, orchard, buildings crowd the animals to the ridges of the buildings.

Homer Albright has been a grand-father, and now claims he is a granny too, "cause a girl baby was born to his oldest daughter this week.

Whipple invested in a pair of Florsheim shoes. Comfort, ease and long wear were the inducements. What are you sniffing about? He now eyes the 1928 autos and fingers the cash in his pants pockets.

Carleton Beals, the sociologist and writer, tells a good story of Mexican humor. An American boasted continually of the superiority of the United States and the immensity of its achievements. The simple Mexicans assented graciously. One night they found a turtle and put it in the bed of the American. The turtle got hold of an American big toe, and the owner jumped out of the bed and yelled. Help at once responded. Rubbing the sore toe, the American asked about the identity of the creature. "Oh, that is nothing, just a common Mexican bed bug. Are the bed bugs in your country so much bigger, senor?" The American answered, "I think they are a trifle smaller."

Stuart Evans had to go to a Tulare hospital to have a carbuncle opened.

I Forded one Sunday. One tire went flat in the hot sun, where there was nary one darkness of shade. Another went out of bloated life in the dark. It whirled off and I went on the rim. The rim caught on a diagonal rail and ran the car off into the crowded lane. Fortunately the reverse stopped the car, and there was nothing within 100 feet.

Science Service, Washington, D.C., in Science for August 3d, gives out the following information. "The division of anthropology and psychology of the National Research Council is turning a searchlight on the problems of the deaf and hard of hearing, to determine the most practical methods of rendering aid. Ten sub-committees have been appointed, composed of specialists, medical psychological and educational, especially of deafness." Dr. Knight Dunlap, chairman of the division, has announced. One sub-committee, headed by Dr. F. Lyman Wells, of Boston, will report on the emotional and social difficulties among the deaf and hard of hearing. Another of the ten sub-committees will suggest what most needs to be done teaching those with defective hearing. After the sub-committees have worked out a practicable program of research, the problems involved in carrying out the needed work will be considered. But until a sane, comprehensive and practical research program has been developed, the attempt to finance and initiate research will be unwise and probably unfortunate, Dr. Dunlap states.

Washington State News

The Pacific Northwest is world famed for its great forests of evergreen trees. These forests of fir, cedar, spruce and hemlock are carpeted with moss and ferns. You all may be able to lead a happy worthwhile life in such surroundings.

Harold Arntzen, who is a student of the Washington School for the Deaf in Vancouver, Wash., lives on a big farm with his parents. He has numerous white chickens in his chicken house, four cows, six calves, four young kittens, one horse, and one dog. He always helps his parents work on the farm, gathering the eggs in his chicken house and milking the cows. His parents also are milking the cows in the big barn every day. His place is beautiful and eight miles from Blaine.

His father is the foreman of the fish company. He has been working there for almost sixteen years with the fishermen. His mother is working in the camp at Cherry Point for the fishermen everyday. They are lucky to have good jobs there. They are very popular.

Harold Carlson has two deaf brothers and one deaf sister, one hearing brother and one hearing sister. The deaf brothers are working on their farm. Harold Carlson is busy in his chicken house every day. He earns good money by selling eggs. He is a member of the Washington Co-operative Egg and Poultry Association. Harold's brother, Arthur, is deaf and a hearty, strong young man, good at his books, but also fond of fun and sports. He is a fine fellow, like all of his family. Carl also is deaf and always likes to work on his farm and read books everyday. Harold's sister, S. Carlson, is deaf and is a fine cook. She takes care of her mother.

Harold Carlson trained his German police dog and the dog is now very quick to act. It's name is Min-din. It can open the door, shut the door, show the Carlsons a tree, a boy, and other things when told to do so, can jump over a high fence, climb a ladder and jump up the wall to the roof of the chicken house. His dog is very fine. We want to congratulate him on his success.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK.

IMPRESSION BY A TOURIST.

The tourist season is now at its height, and Rainier National Park gets its share of visitors, and on the week-end of July 29th, 10,587 persons visited the park by way of the Milwaukee Road alone. When counting autos and stages, that number must have been doubled several times over. To the fortunate dwellers in this favored northwest, the park is a dear and valued possession, and frequent trips are made to it. But an outside visitor who sees it all for the first time probably gives a better description of it than a resident of the State would do. Miss Bertha Tiegel, who made the trip to the park the week-end of August 5th, has the following to say of her visit:—

"I was amazed at the mountain flowers, gorgeous in color and in great profusion. A large field of blue lupin, reminded one of an immense sapphire. I was not expecting to see one familiar flower, but there were the dainty buttercup, the everlasting, the smart weed, and the Indian paint-brush, and I wondered if seeds like people became venturesome and wanted to see the big wonderful West. A woman we met pointed out the avalanche lily and the monkey flower, the latter a big, interesting, hairy ball of subdued white. We trudged through the snow, then up steep trails, until we reached an elevation of 73,000 feet, making a climb of 16,000 feet above Paradise Inn. There was at strong cold wind here and a very large field of snow. There was a wonderful view from this point. A panorama of grandeur spread out before us—craggy peaks with patches of snow extending into a deep blue sky. Clouds rested on the mountain sides, but moving rapidly and making an ever-changing scene. Way below were the grass and flowers and trees, and then the sun came out to make the scene still more fair. Every once in a while the clouds parted to afford a glimpse of the top of majestic Mt. Rainier."

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

A surprise birthday party was sprung on Mr. Joseph W. Grossman, of Bayonne, N. J., on Saturday, August 25th. Although the weather was uncertain a great crowd of friends was on hand early in the afternoon to give a hand to Mrs. Grossman getting things ready, while Mr. Gilbert took Joe out on some excuse. It was not until nine o'clock that they were back. Through a prearranged signal the lights in the parlor were switched off, while his wife greeted Joe in the kitchen. On entering the other rooms Joe was overwhelmed by the great crowd of friends that greeted him, to wish him a lot more of happy birthdays. Various amusing games were played and the time flew fast. After a refreshing supper, the great many beautiful gifts were opened, which was the most enjoyed part of the surprise for Joe. Among the many friends present were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Pincus, Mr. and Mrs. S. Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. H. Schurman, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lampore, Mr. and Mrs. J. Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dunning, Misses Lillian Schoen, Mary Mintz, Rose Sheffrin, Bessie Levy, Mabel B. Barrett, Celia Stark, Mrs. Nettie Cail, Messrs. George Sherman, Louis Gilbert, Morris Kramer, Wm. O'Brien, Wm. Newman, H. Schmidt, J. Padawer, Lester Hyams, Harry E. Dixon and Hy Dramis.

Among those to send greeting messages, Henriques, M. Lounsbury, K. bridge, Md., Wm. Schurman, Goldie Aaronson, Simon Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Fozel, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Dirkes, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauer, of Akron, Ohio; Mr. John Lanz, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Carrell.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. Charles Fetscher stood amazed surrounded by over thirty friends, in his home at Richmond Hill, L. I., when he arrived from New York City. All congratulated him on his birthday which, we believe, fell on Saturday, August 25th. May luck and happiness follow him all his life. After a lovely buffet supper, Toastmaster Mr. Martin L. Glynn made an eloquent speech, then each in turn made addresses. All were pleased to note Charles's happy expression. Suddenly some one rang the door bell, telling Charles that some one at the door, so went he, receiving a large laundry bag containing various presents from friends. Games were indulged in and all went home smiling with a knowledge that Charles was happy. Among his friends present were: A. Fousadier, E. Dressing, C. and W. Fetscher, Jr., F. Ecka, J. Alexander, Claire Satre, J. Nesgood, C. Cires, Messrs. and Mesdames H. C. Borgstrand, J. H. Toohy, M. L. Glynn, F. Berger, C. Bothner, E. V. Moeslein, J. Wollmaun, E. Taggard, Henriques M. Lounsbury, K. Erlich, H. Fetscher.

ARTIST SOCIETY OUTING

Last Sunday, August 26th, 1928, American Society of Deaf Artists had a good outing in spite of bad weather. It rained only twenty minutes at Keansburg. All were at Bevelerde Ball room. Mr. H. C. Borgstrand was the chairman. He spied a couple doing the Spanish dance, so Mrs. Margaret Borgstrand asked the young couple to do some Spanish dances. They danced beautifully, both the tango and the Spanish folk waltz. We applauded and they were pleased that we liked their dances. Then games being had, Mrs. V. Anderson won the prize.

The following is taken from the New York Telegram, and is reproduced here because it is something original, even if it is intended as a pun:

While the New York Giants were in St. Louis last week, "Dummy" Taylor, pitcher of the Giants a generation ago, now a teacher in a deaf and dumb institute in Iowa, called on the Giants yesterday.

Roger Bresnahan, Giant coach, and Dummy's old catcher and roommate, discovered he can talk the sign-language as well as he could in the days when Dummy was talking to him.

Jim Faulkner, lefthanded pitcher of the Giants, was curious. He asked Bresnahan what Taylor was doing these days.

"Oh," said Roger, "he's a radio announcer now." Faulkner is still trying to figure that one out."

Henry Hester, of Hoboken, N. J., has been seen frequently at the Brighton Beach Baths this summer. When interviewed concerning his inaction in his favorite pastime of "fishing," stated that the reason is because he has not been able to get the same kind of parties as yesterday, and so far this season there has not been a school of striped-bass and other kind of fish worth his while. When told that Joe F. Graham was endeavoring to annex the championship among the deaf, he said the season was not ended yet, and added "just wait till the latter part of September and October, then you will know the champion deaf fisherman in these parts."

Miss Rosie Quinn and Miss Sophia Zahn were a combination that brought to a happy end an outing among the Catholic deaf on August 26th. Rosie, by the way, is Grand High Totum of the St. Joseph's Alumnae, while Miss Sophia exercises sway as Grand Secretary of the Boucher Sewing Circle, a subsidiary of the former body, whose good work has been known, but unheralded for a long time past.

With Miss M. Josephine Purtell acting in an advisory capacity, the trio hit upon a day at the Summer Home acquired by the ladies of St. Joseph Institute, down at Monmouth Beach, a short distance away from the breakers of Old Ocean.

The trip was made by boat over the Sandy Hook route. Close to a hundred went along. Leaving the city, the sail down the Bay, out through the Narrows, thence over a stretch of ocean to Highland Beach was like a mid-summer's morning's dream. At Highlands, the party entrained over the C. R. of N. J., and reached their destination in positively next to no time.

A snug little building, the Home faces the Town Hall of Monmouth, with its adjoining fire-house. Through the business days of the week, His Honor, Mayor Van Brunt, exercises sway over the community. The Mayor's first name was unattainable, though it was put down as "J. G. F." by the visitors—meaning forsooth "Jolly Good Fellow," since His Honor placed the Town Hall at the disposal of the deaf, enhancing the enjoyment of the luncheons that followed.

A swim was the order of the afternoon. For those who ventured to brave the thunderous surf that prevailed at this stretch of the Atlantic, Syl Fogarty went in with a rush and came out with a splurge high and dry on the beach.

All who knew her were pleased to meet Miss Agnes Kaler, who moved up from Red Bank with the Misses Purtell and Brother Tom. Looking well, Agnes is happy in her new home, although not as active as in days gone-by.

Rev. Father Purtell was happy with his silent friends and a reunion with members of his family from Red Bank.

Frank Cunningham and family came over in a Chevrolet, along with his aunt, a clever driver, who motored all the way from Douglas Manor, Long Island.

Miss Kate McBride, as full of fun as she always happens to be, jollied everybody with her witticisms. The dignity that hovered in the vicinity of Tom O'Neil was so heavy, that few ventured to intrude. It went along with him on an early train.

Joe Knopp, the Mattes brothers, and Mrs. Knopp and Mrs. Mattes toured New Jersey, reaching the Home as the rest of the party were on their way to train.

Rev. M. J. Purtell, S. J., on account of the Labor Day week-end, has postponed the meeting of the Xavier Epiphany Society to the second Sunday, September 9th. An overflow attendance is anticipated. Instruction exercises will be held in the gymnasium of the college, with Benediction to follow in the Lower Church.

Steve Dundon has made good. So good, in fact, that he is now foreman of Asbury Park's largest printery. With a linotype friend from Long Branch, a Mt. Airy graduate, Steve took in the outing on August 26th.

A good crowd of thirty-five were gathered promptly Saturday evening, August 25th, at the bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Sol E. Pachter, 3061 Lakeland Place, Brighton Beach, to celebrate a brilliant party arranged by Miss Goldie Aaronson, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fogel for their sixth anniversary. They did not know it till the midnight of the party, and they were then exceedingly exhausted there. The refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, salad, candies, cakes, fruits, soda and ice-cream were served. The games and jokes were had. The beautiful gifts, including the handling book-case, nut set and colored table lamp, were given. Mr. and Mrs. Fogel have two nice children, girl, 5, and boy, 3. They have been dwelling in their own house in Brighton Beach, where his parents are on the ground floor since the days of their marriage. He was a Fanwoodite, and she from the Trenton School.

On Friday, August 31st, the JOURNAL office was favored by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. August Bremer, who arrived in the city on Tuesday, August 28th, and will remain here for about three weeks. Mrs. Roy Lynch, a former resident of St. Louis, acted as their guide for the day.

Miss Edith Biggam and Mrs. George Miller, of Columbus, Ohio, visited the JOURNAL office on Tuesday of last week. They were escorted by Dan Lynch, Jr., and in the evening called on Mrs. Renbeck. They came to New York a few days previously, and have taken in Coney Island and been busy sightseeing. Before returning to Columbus, they will visit Philadelphia and Washington.

Messrs. S. Frankenheim, E. Souweine and M. L. Kenner did not attend the New England Association Convention as expected, because they were unable to secure accommodation—so they say.

It takes only a little over an hour to Coney Island from Manhattan, the greatest summer resort in the world.

During the summer months on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, hundreds of New York's deaf are found at Coney Island. On a recent Sunday in July, there were over 250 enjoying bathing and idling on the beach.

Sea Gate is considered, or was till a few years ago, an exclusive residential section.

A policeman is always on guard at the single entrance, and a stranger must give his name and wait for telephone permission from a resident before entering the sacred portals.

It now seems that it will not be long ere the boardwalk of Coney Island will be extended to include Sea Gate and also Brighton Beach at the other end of the Island. When this is an accomplished fact, New York will have reason to be proud of the longest boardwalk in the world.

Among the new faces seen at the Brighton Beach Baths on Tuesday, August 28th, were Mrs. William Renner, Mrs. Fred Parker, though living in New York for some time were there for the first time. Among others from out-of-town were Mrs. Dorothy Capps, of Fort Worth, Texas; Miss Florence Bodwaire, of Bellows Falls, Vt.

By the way, those among the first of the deaf to go regularly to the Brighton Beach Baths, may be mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Sam Branson and Mrs. Arthur C. Bachrach. This trio always occupy the same bench at the beach. Sometimes they bring their whole family and some relatives. Of late some of the other regular attendants have been Mr. and Mrs. Abe Marks, Sam Greenberg, Mrs. Joseph Sturtz and her little son, of the boys, Leon Wincig, Abe Jaffre, Louis Uhlberg, and a few others are the steady frequenters.

Messrs. Abe Jaffre and Leon Wincig are enjoying a short respite from the "case," and are constantly at the Brighton Beach Baths, and next to Messrs. Louis Uhlberg and Baum, have acquired a deeper tan-color complexion than the rest of the deaf bathers.

Mrs. Eva Kansriddle during the summer has not missed a single Tuesday at the Brighton Beach Baths. Rain or shine she is found there. On Sundays she goes to Sea Gate, where her sister, Mrs. Dora Pines, and a brother, Louis Cohen live. Mrs. Kansriddle owns a motor-boat of fifteen horse-power and has enjoyed some fine sailing this summer.

Ward Pritner, of Hartford, Kan., has been appointed supervisor of the boys at the Lexington Avenue Institution. He was a visitor at the rooms of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, on Saturday, September 1st, 1928. He was educated at Olathe, Kan., and knew "Dummy" Taylor, who was then Supervisor of boys there. Mr. Taylor in now Physical Instructor at the Iowa school.

Miss Florence Bodwaire, of Bellows Falls, Vt., is in this city, the guest of Miss Ida Savage, and thinks it a fine place to spend one's vacation. She was at the Brighton Beach Baths on Tuesday, August 28th, and seemed impressed seeing so many of the deaf there.

Miss Ruby Abrams and her sister, Ida, are spending a few weeks amid rustic scenery at Jeffersonville, N. Y. Miss Abrams is making sketches of her surroundings, which she will reproduce in colors later on.

Mrs. Dorothy Capps, of Fort Worth, Texas, is again a visitor in New York. Last week she was the guest of Mrs. Harry Pierce Kane, and accompanied her to the Brighton Beach Baths on Tuesday, August 28th.

The Bonheur girls and Arline Weber's friends recently were invited by Arline to a bathing party at Rockaway Park. They certainly had a good time there, and came home late and all sunburned.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch on Thursday, August 23d, at St. Ann's Hospital. Mrs. Lynch was formerly Anna Quinlan. Mother and baby are well.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Skidmore and their son enjoyed their wonderful vacation at their Hifton's Farm, Maplewood, Sullivan Co., N. Y.

Mr. Jacques Alexander has returned from Europe, where he visited many cities and attended the Congress of the Deaf at Prague, where he was one of the vice-presidents.

Sadie Leder, one of the Bonheur girls, spent the week-end with her brother-in-law and sister at Poughkeepsie. A postcard said that she had enjoyed every moment.

William Lustgarten began his two weeks' vacation by going direct to Montreal, Canada. Before returning home he expects to see more of the Dominion of Canada.

During ideal weather, Mr. and Mrs. Victor G. Anderson spent the week-end at Asbury Park.

Robert Fischel, after sojourning in the Catskill Mountains for two weeks, has returned home.

Simon Kahn is back from his annual vacation, spent at Saragota Springs, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gass are having a fine vacation at Atlantic City.

She is a graduate of the State school at Flint, and present president of the Ladies' Guild of St. John's and the auxiliary of the Fraternal Club. A popular young matron, who promises to do her best to make the Detroit column interesting. Your aid will be appreciated by her.

She hid the loot in her home to keep the Maloneys from detecting or knowing the fact, but some months later she forgot and came out around with the ring on her finger, when she met Mrs. Maloney by chance, with the above result. The Maloneys recovered the ring, a clock and other valuables.

BALTIMORE

On the 24th of August the writer and wife returned to Baltimore after a three weeks' sojourn in New York City at the home of the writer's mother. The visit to New York City explains the non-appearance of the Baltimore column in the JOURNAL, and also accounts for some news which is over three weeks old, yet interesting enough to be printed.

The writer and wife were among the 1330 or more at the Brooklyn Frats' Picnic in Ulmer Park last Saturday, where they met many friends, including Miss Lillian Bainter and Mr. Stanley Taranski, former Baltimoreans. Miss Bainter graduated from Gallaudet last June and is at present doing clerical work for a New York firm. Mr. Taranski is doing well at the printing trade.

Miss Marie Dietz tendered a card party at her home on the evening of August 6th, in honor of the three departing musketeers, Messrs. Rozelle McCall, Abe Stern and Joseph Pfeiler. An enjoyable evening was spent playing "500," rummy and casino. A delicious repast was served and the rest of the evening was devoted to conversation. Before the party broke up, the three musketeers were each presented with a new horseshoe to take along for luck. The charm worked as described elsewhere in this column.

Among those present were Misses Marie Dietz, Ellen Peake, Theresa Herold, Evelyn Townsend and Messrs. Abe Stern, Rozelle McCall, Joseph Pfeiler and Henry Bernac.

Early Sunday morning, August 5th a party of young deaf Baltimoreans went on a fishing trip to Bear Creek Md. The trip was made in autos. At the creek rowboats were hired and an all-day fishing party was held. The ladies fixed up a dainty lunch which was thoroughly enjoyed on a small island.

It was an ideal day for rowing and fishing, as attested by the goodly number of sunfish and perch brought home by the tired but happy bunch of young men and ladies. In the party were Messrs. Henry Bernac, Rozelle McCall, Abe Stern, Joseph Pfeiler, Misses Marie Dietz, Ellen Peake, Theresa Herold, Evelyn Townsend, Elizabeth Mass, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace and Mrs. Coleman.

Mrs. Coleman, of Washington D. C., was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace during the first week of August.

The annual excursion and picnic of the Maryland deaf was held on August 3d and 4th, respectively. As the excursion was held on Friday, a rather small crowd of about thirty boarded the steamer "Express" for a delightful sail up the beautiful Chesapeake to Tolchester Beach.

The next day Saturday over 230 gathered in Grove No. 10, Druid Hill Park, for the fifty-first annual picnic and games. With ideal weather prevailing, the games started at 2 p.m. Cash prizes were awarded. The games furnished enough fun for both the participants and onlookers.

Twice the 100 yard dash for men resulted in a tie between Mr. BJORLEE and Mr. KAUFFMAN, so the prize was divided.

Before the games, Mr. BJORLEE, who was present with his charming wife, was called upon for an address. Mr. BJORLEE responded with a brief talk of the progress and needs of the Maryland school, and made it known that he would welcome suggestions for the betterment of the trades department. Mr. Frank Leitner followed with a comparison of the present and past picnics. Last came Mr. Benson with an announcement of the coming inter-sectional basket-ball tournament, to be held in Frederick during February, 1929. The writer will publish the facts of the tournament in another letter soon.

After the games, delicious bricks of HENDLER'S ice-cream was served free to all. All the small children were given a toy. Then followed the election of officers for the "52" annual picnic in 1929 as follows: Chairman Mr. Wriede; Secretary, Mrs. Wriede; Treasurer, Mr. Sandebeck; Committee, Mr. McCall and Miss Marie Dietz.

On the seventh of August, Mr. Rozelle McCall, accompanied by Messrs. Abe Stern and Joseph Pfeiler set out for a trip north in a recently purchased Ford, 1923 model. They visited many large cities en route, including Chicago, Akron, Toledo and Flint. At Flint, Stern and Pfeiler secured work with the Fisher body Co., and decided to stay there. McCall then went to visit Niagara Falls and two days later drove in to New York City to visit the Wriedes. Upon the invitation, the Wriedes accompanied McCall back to Baltimore. McCall covered over 2000 miles in two and a half weeks. McCall said that he had no trouble with the motor, but had seven tire punctures. The car is still in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Leitner, of Pittsburgh, Pa., drove down to Baltimore during the early part of August, and spent ten days in Baltimore as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Leitner. During their stay they enjoyed many lovely trips over the hills of Maryland. Frank had the opportunity to visit Gallaudet, from whence he graduated in 1890. Their visit to Baltimore has been an annual affair for over twenty years.

Last month Rev. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Whildin were made happy by a visit of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nilson, of New York City. The Nilsons stayed in Baltimore almost a month before leaving for Colorado, where Mr. Nilson will take up his new duties at the Colorado School for the Deaf. Mrs. Nilson will not teach school any more, but will keep house for hubby. The Nilsons had previously taught at the Wright Oral School, New York City.

Sunday, August 5th, Baltimore Division No. 47, held its annual outing at Fairview Beach. The trip to the beach was made by boat down the Chesapeake. Many local Frats and others living in neighboring States made the trip in autos. In the morning the following contests were held in the grove and nice prizes awarded:—

MEN

Ball throwing (basket)—F. Schleibaum. 100 Yard Dash—Joseph Smith.

LADIES

Ball throwing (basket)—Mrs. Leitch. Balloon Contest—Mrs. Leitch. Endurance Contest on one foot—M. Miller. c. Bottle Contest—F. Miller.

In the afternoon more contests were held on the beach in bathing suits, with the following results:—

MEN

100 Yard Dash out of water to beach—Abe Stern. Wheelbarrow race—J. Hohn. Three legged race—Abe Stern and partner. Tug-of-war in water—Won by a picked team captained by J. Pfeiler.

LADIES

50 Yard Dash out of water to beach—Berta Shockley. Wheelbarrow race—Theresa Herold. Three-legged race—Berta Shockley and partner. Tug-of-war in water—A picked team captained by Mrs. Wriede.

This year's outing was by far one of the best held by the Frats. A very large crowd was present, including a lot of Washington Frats. The

WHEN DISASTER RIDES THE SKIES

The poster which Chapters of the American Red Cross will display throughout the country from November 11th to 29th, inviting the people to join the Red Cross for another year, symbolizes the services of relief and rehabilitation provided by the "Greatest Mother" when disaster strikes. Throughout the past year the Red Cross has been engaged continually in disaster relief work at home and has extended assistance in many catastrophes abroad. The poster was painted by Cornelius Hicks.
