

If the writer you can guess,
Send the bows to the right address.

If the writer you cannot guess,
Send to the girl that you love best.
Hopefully yours!

If your love for me is dead,
Return to me the bow of red.

If your love for me is true,
Return to me the bow of blue.

If the courage to propose you lack,
Return to me the bow of black.

If you want me for your wife,
Return to me the bow of white.

If you want me to elope,
Return to me the heliotrope.

If you think me fine and sandy,
Send to me a box of candy.

To My Dear:

Of this letter, no ought to you.

Alas! you'll find no words in my hand.

Of me you've seen, I mean;

Return to me the box of green!

Of me you've seen, I mean;

Return to me the box of pink.

Of me you've seen, I mean;

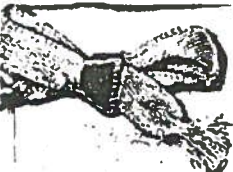

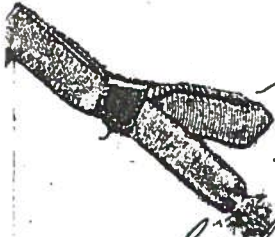

Return to me the box of grey.

Of you are another's pen-follower?

Return to me the box of yellow!

Of you wish to turn me down;

Return to me the box of brown!

Pruta