Dear Mom, Dad, and all,

A letter from you, one from Jeanne and three from Eva Love during the last few days. I needed them. More than that, I need to get back for a visit.

Yesterday being Sunday I took a half day off and visited Pompeii again. I missed much of it during my first visit so this time I finished the tour. Also had lunch with some friends in Naples.

Please send me Don's address as soon as he gets settled. Also let me know where he is. I wrote to Don and Barbara last March and the letter came back a couple days ago. I had all sorts of congratulations in it too so I guess I'm skidding my wheels as far as communicating with them is concerned.

Received a long letter from Carl and Agnes last week. A "V" note from Baid and Madge.

I'm still waiting for cookies.

Love,
Bob

Dear Mom, Dad & all,

I just completed a "V" note you but I forgot to tell you that the cherries are ripe here. The big black sweet ones like we sold at the market. They're so good I'm eating myself silly and sick on them. The price is 36 live (36¢) a kilo (2.2 pounds) at the local shops but I have located some trees along a lonely country road. I can drive the jeep up under the branches. A beautiful drizzle fell yesterday evening and made them cool and refreshing. I also have my eye on some plum & peach trees. Grapes, of course, are everywhere, but they won't be ripe 'til August.

Father's Day comes during June and so does your birth day, Mom, so I'll be thinking about both of you on those days especially. In the meantime I'll keep my eyes peeled for something to send to you.

Take good care of yourselves. I'm feeling fine.
